

Manhunt leads to arrest of North Reading man

Christopher Wiese

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - An extensive manhunt led to the arrest of a North Reading man last Thursday evening.

Just after 9:00 p.m., while on routine patrol, Wilmington Police Officer Dennis Rooney observed a motor vehicle dropping off a male passenger near the Route 62 onramp for Interstate 93. The pedestrian began making his way toward the onramp as if to walk down the ramp and onto the highway. Pedestrians are not permitted on highways.

Rooney moved his cruiser close to the young man, positioned the spotlight on him, and asked where he was heading. The young man ignored Rooney's interrogatories twice and crossed over the guardrail next to the onramp. Rooney, now out of his cruiser, observed the man drop a shiny object on the other side of the guardrail. The man then acknowledged the officer and began making his way back toward Rooney. Two additional police cruisers arrived on the scene to assist. Sgt. David Axelrod searched the guardrail area to retrieve whatever it was that the suspect had dropped while Rooney and Officer Daniel Cadigan spoke to the suspect.

Axelrod quickly discovered that it was a small 22-caliber

News of Building Inspector's dismissal false

WILMINGTON - The Town Crier appreciates the many tips that come in by telephone and email. Indeed, for a small weekly newspaper with an extremely limited staff, those tips are crucial. Oftentimes, the tip results in a story. Other times it turns out to be just a rumor and is left to die on the vine. Occasionally, a rumor becomes so widespread that the Crier considers it to be a public service to set the record straight. Such is the case surrounding the employment status of Wilmington's Building Inspector Daniel Paret.

For the record, Paret has not been fired. Paret did submit

After 20 years in a 'temporary' space, WCTV secures a new home

By CHARITY B. LEGVOLD

WILMINGTON - It is a move to a permanent space that has been more than 20 years in the making, but Wilmington Community Television (WCTV) has finally found a new space they can call "home."

WCTV spent its first 20 years in the basement of the old Swain School on Middlesex Avenue in what was supposed to be a temporary start-up space for the non-profit organization that provides public access, education and government channels for Verizon and Comcast cable subscribers.

The current space was never meant to be permanent. An old gym was converted into a studio and was never designed as an ideal television space. There was no reception area because the offices and studios were located on two different floors of the building. They quickly outgrew the old space and it no longer accommodates some of the technology that the station would like to implement. Not only were they tight on space, but they endured flooding on several occasions as well.

WCTV Executive Director Donna Gacek said that finding a new location to house WCTV was her top goal from day one when she became Executive Director four years ago.

"I'm very proud to say that this Board of Directors and I have been able to accomplish this 'mission impossible,'" said Gacek.

A choice in cable providers

If it's not there, Verizon is on its way

By CHARITY B. LEGVOLD

WILMINGTON - Patience is the key for Wilmington residents who are still awaiting the ability to connect to the Verizon FIOS and internet services that are gradually coming into Wilmington, but there is now a way to get some of your questions answered online.

When the cable license was approved by the Board of Selectmen on February 26, 2007 Verizon committed to providing cable service within 12 months of Board approval for all households with aerial service (above-ground cables). They agreed to provide service to everyone else, (including homes with underground lines and those living in apartments) within four years.

The only reason for the delay with these other types of housing is that it takes more time to

Mr. Tuttle's many ferns

By LARZ E. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - When you think of the Textron (formerly Avco) plant in Wilmington, you probably think of a complex of large buildings and parking lots.

And when you think of the Town Park, you think of the softball field.

What might not come to mind for either place is ferns.

A half a century ago, when Avco came to town, Wilmington became the home of Frank Tuttle. The Tuttles bought a home on Carson Avenue in Hathaway Acres.

Mr. Tuttle was a mechanical engineer and an amateur naturalist. He became involved with many community activities, including the Wilmington Community Fund, Boy Scouts and the Congregational Church. He used to teach a course in nature studies for Boy Scouts. He was active with the

No election for Planning Board

The fates of 28 warrant articles decided

By CHARITY B. LEGVOLD

WILMINGTON - Just 234 of the 15,295 registered voters in the Town of Wilmington came out on a rainy Saturday, May 3, to take action on the 28 Articles presented at the Annual Town Meeting. But they didn't show up all at once.

A single steady drip of water from the ceiling onto a tarp placed to protect the gymnasium floor marked the passage of time as gathered residents waited patiently for the quorum of 150 registered voters required to open the annual Town Meeting.

Though scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m., it was at 10:40 a.m. that Town Manager Michael Caira announced that there were just under 100 registered voters present and encouraged those assembled to get out their cell phones and call anyone they could think of that was planning to attend later in the day. By 11:17 a.m. the quorum was reached, the meeting was called to order and the Minutemen performed a formal presentation of the colors followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and a moment of silence.

Six and a half hours later, 234 registered voters had participated in a Town Meeting that decided the Town Budget and some zoning changes that will have lasting impact in Wilmington. While the Planning Board made a motion that Article 22, pertaining to Inclusionary Housing, be passed over, voters did take action of four articles related to Town planning.

Planning board Chairman Michael Sorrentino presented Article 19, which provides for an expedited permitting

John Tierney: Superdelegate

By PAUL FEELY

READING - He hasn't started wearing a cape around Capitol Hill just yet, but Rep. John Tierney is taking his role as a superdelegate in the current electoral process very seriously.

Rep. Tierney, who serves the 6th District in Massachusetts (which includes local communities Reading, North Reading, Lynnfield, Wakefield and Burlington), has been fielding many calls in recent weeks from supporters of both candidates for the Democratic Presidential Nomination for President, Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton, looking to lock up his support once the electoral primary process wraps up.

"I have received many calls on this," said Tierney. "And I don't blame them. If I were in their position, I would be trying to court as much support as I could as well."

For those who are unfamiliar with the term, superdelegates are party officials and elected officeholders from across the country that have an individual vote at their respective party's nominating convention. They include Senators, Congresspeople, governors, former presidents and vice presidents. Other superdelegates are ordinary people who work in state and local party operations.

It's Your Money

REAL ESTATE AS A DONATION

Maybe you don't have $1 million to give to your favorite charity, but your appreciated real estate can serve the same function—providing you with a lifetime income, a considerable tax benefit and the satisfaction of helping special causes.

More and more nonprofit organizations are encouraging real estate donations. While the typical middle-income home with a mortgage may not be available for donation, there are plenty of second homes, inherited houses, vacant land, even time shares that can be turned into an income stream and tax benefits.

One way to structure such a gift is as a charitable remainder trust. Donors get income for life and a tax deduction equal to the value of the property less the income interest to be paid, and can avoid the federal capital-gains tax (and the state tax in many states). At the donor's death, remaining assets are transferred to the charity. In some cases, income can pass on to heirs. What's the most advantageous way to donate? Talk to us at

DA Leone and local superintendents reach out to parents, students about teenage drinking and driving

WOBURN - Middlesex District Attorney Gerry Leone announced today that his office, in collaboration with Middlesex County school superintendents, has sent out letters seeking to help parents protect their children from the dangers of drinking and driving during this year's prom and graduation season.

The joint letter, which is being distributed to parents of 12th graders in Middlesex County, outlines the troubling statistics regarding teenage drinking and driving and offers parents a number of proactive steps that they can take to help prevent their children and others from getting behind the wheel while impaired.

In addition to reaching out to parents through this letter, Leone will also be speaking to students at Medford High School about the dangers of impaired driving on Tuesday, May 8, at 8:45 a.m.

"Prom and graduation season should be a time of great celebration for our students and their families," District Attorney Leone said. "We also know that each year at this time, we see far too many tragedies because teens make the wrong decisions about drinking and driving. We are urging parents and students to take proactive steps to prevent these tragedies and make this an enjoyable and safe time for everyone."

Statistics show that car crashes are the leading cause of death for young adults between the ages of 15-20 and that there is a dramatic increase in alcohol-related traffic fatalities on prom weekends throughout Middlesex County. According to the 2005 Massachusetts Youth Risk Behavior Survey, 28% of Massachusetts youth surveyed reported riding with a driver who had been drinking and 12% reported that they themselves had driven after they had been drinking.

With 73% of 12th graders surveyed nationally stating that they have tried alcohol, according to a recent survey put out by the National Institutes of Health and Drug Abuse, District Attorney Leone is actively engaging parents and students to avoid teenage drinking and driving. D.A. Leone offers these alternatives to parents and teens during this prom season:

If you are able to, hire professional transportation for your children's prom night. Make sure you have a discussion with the driver prior to prom night about your expectations that the ride be alcohol-free. Sometimes these drivers will agree to purchase alcohol for their minor passengers - it is important to ensure that this will not happen by talking directly with the driver.

Offer your children transportation alternatives. Offer to provide your children rides or to have an older sibling or family friend provide rides for your children on prom night. If your child does not want you to pick them up, oftentimes a sibling or family friend is a great compromise.

Provide your child with the phone number of a local taxi company with a reputable reputation and offer to pay for your children's taxi fare for the night. Remember, this is a small cost to keep your child safe.

In the letter, D.A. Leone and the superintendents also remind parents that they can be held liable if they choose to host a party for teens where alcohol is served and then have one of their guests harm themselves or others by the negligent operation of a motor vehicle due to alcohol consumption.

(A copy of the joint letter being distributed by Superintendents to parents in their individual communities is included below.)

Dear Parent/Guardian:

With prom season around the corner, we are approaching a celebratory time for students and their families. We want to send this letter to urge you to do all that you can to make it a happy, and safe, time for your child.

Each year, we lose far too many of our teenagers to motor vehicle crashes, with a dramatic increase in alcohol-related traffic fatalities on prom weekends throughout our county. Car crashes are the leading cause of death for young adults between the ages of 15-20, and the reality is that many of those deaths are caused by teenage drinking and driving.

As a parent or guardian, you have the opportunity to help ensure the safety of your children and those they may endanger should they choose to drink and drive. You, along with proactive education and tough law enforcement, are a key component to preventing alcohol-related tragedies. As you are well aware, it is a crime to provide alcohol to those under the age of 21, even at a supervised party at your own home. It is also important to know that if you choose to host a party where alcohol is served to minors, you can be held liable if one of your guests drinks alcohol and harms themselves or others by the negligent operation of a motor vehicle.

It is important to stress to your children that driving with any amount of alcohol could potentially result in a driving under the influence offense. For those under the age of 21, driving under the influence in Massachusetts is defined by a 0.02 blood alcohol level. This level can easily be reached by just one drink and carries the very serious criminal penalties of an OUI offense.

With these dangers, we encourage you to take a number of steps to provide your children with alternatives to getting behind the wheel while impaired:

If you are able to, hire professional transportation for your children's prom night. Make sure you have a discussion with the driver prior to prom night about your expectations that the ride be alcohol-free. Sometimes these drivers will agree to purchase alcohol for their minor passengers - it is important to ensure that this will not happen by talking directly with the driver.

Offer your children transportation alternatives. Offer to provide your children rides or to have an older sibling or family friend provide rides for your children on prom night. If your child does not want you to pick them up, oftentimes a sibling or family friend is a great compromise.

Provide your child with the phone number of a local taxi company with a reputable reputation and offer to pay for your children's taxi fare for the night. Remember, this is a small cost to keep your child safe.

We have seen first-hand the devastating impact that driving under the influence can have on parents, families, friends and communities and urge you to be proactive in preventing teenage drinking and driving. We believe these alternatives will help to discourage drinking and driving without infringing on your child's desire for independence.

This is an exciting time in our young people's lives and one that we hope will be marked by the celebratory occasion, not a preventable tragedy.

Thank you and please contact us with any questions that you may have or if you would like further information on teenage drinking and driving.

Be safe and enjoy this wonderful time of year.

Sincerely,
Gerry Leone
Middlesex District Attorney

"It's not your typical move," explained Gacek. "The biggest challenge was finding appropriate ceiling height for a new studio, or a space with room to build it."

Gacek said they explored all of their options and determined that renting a commercial space, though difficult for a non-profit, was their best option. They have negotiated a "long-term" lease for space at 10 Waltham Street (located in North Wilmington behind Dinette World) because of the major investment being made to renovate the space to fit their needs. Although Gacek expects that their contract to rent the new space will begin as soon as Boston Kitchen vacates later this month, WCTV does not anticipate occupying the space until fall, when their build-out is complete.

"I'm looking forward to moving into the state-of-the-art, large facility that is really the space WCTV has always needed to provide services to the community and to bring us forward and into the digital age," Gacek said.

The new space is twice the size of the old space and will allow them to offer top notch professional digital equipment with digital editing suites, more classes and services to the community, more resources, and both Mac and PC platforms.

President of the WCTV Board of Directors Chris Neville expressed his thoughts about the move saying, "The move has been long anticipated. Despite having top of the line production equipment, it has become increasingly difficult to attract and maintain membership because the current facility is in such poor condition. I certainly expect that with the completion of a new facility people will enjoy entering a lively, electrically charged environment. It will be an opportunity for people to fully utilize their creativity and ideas to open Wilmington up to a whole new line of Television and Radio programming. It should prove to be a great asset to the entire Community."

From the WCTV website, "Our organization exists to give Wilmington residents and civic organizations a voice on cable television...a forum on which the town's residents can discuss issues of local concern, promote civic, educational and cultural resources in the community, and celebrate local talent and initiatives."

For more information about current programming, summer programs, training, creating your own program, becoming a member, and much more please visit the WCTV website at www.wctv.org.

At the Democratic National convention almost 800 superdelegates will vote with the 3,000 pledged delegates chosen through primaries and caucuses. Because superdelegates control 40 percent of the votes needed to secure the nomination, their existence makes sure the party establishment approves of the nominee.

Superdelegates are getting a lot of press this year due to the as-yet-undecided nature of the race for a Democratic presidential nominee. On Tuesday of this week, voters in Indiana and North Carolina took part in their presidential primaries, but neither state can mathematically settle the nomination. A candidate needs 2,025 delegates to win, and Obama had 1,842 to Clinton's 1,686 as of Wednesday. The key to the nomination is held by the superdelegates. About 220 are still undecided, including Tierney, who plans on staying that way for a while. "I don't think I'm going to decide until the convention on this," said Tierney, on a recent visit to Reading. "That's not saying 100 percent that I won't. The role of the superdelegate, it seems to me, is to bring a little adult supervision to the whole process. In the past, it really hasn't been too important because the nominee has been a foregone conclusion. But now, to me, it seems its going to get to a situation where we need to pick the best viable candidate, with the best possibility for winning, keeping in account the views of the people in our districts and nationwide, as well as our own opinions, and decide how we're going to win this election."

Tierney is surprised by the added weight the role of superdelegates has taken on during this electoral process, but he isn't shying away from his duties.

"History has been that we have always had a selection made so far in advance that it hasn't been an issue," said Tierney. "But I think what has happened here will make them rethink the whole superdelegate process. I don't think anyone ever thought that this would happen, but we make tough decisions every day on a national perspective, and this is just one within the party. We are just going to have to take that responsibility and act appropriately."

Tierney will take a look at the national picture, at the overall mood of democrats across the country as well as those within his own district, before deciding whom to back at the national convention.

"I think so much depends on it," said Tierney. "Everyone wants bipartisanship, nonpartisanship, which is fine if you're talking about the nuances and little things you can work out. But over the last six or seven years there really has been a change, and a difference in philosophy. We need a president that's going to take this country in the right direction, that's going to start focusing on cities and towns, small businesses, and families. We want to make sure that we get that choice that can win, and that's what I think is our role at this time."

Right to vote is a gift

Dear Editor,
Will there ever be a day when more than 200 people can attend Town Meeting? When given the chance, some people will always find an excuse not to exercise their right to vote. Our forefathers fought for this precious right. Today, your husband, brother, son or daughter, who are stationed overseas, fight for this precious right - for you and for me. We are privileged because we can vote at an election. We are privileged because we can vote at Town Meeting without anyone preventing us from exercising this right. At Town Meeting, millions of dollars are brought up for consideration in various articles. Unfortunately, a limited number of people choose to exercise their right to attend. There will not be a day good enough for everyone so try and go for at least a few hours. The matter regarding "reconsideration of an article" needs to be examined and changed for the benefit of those who stay until the end of the meeting. Bringing an article up for reconsideration and then leaving immediately afterwards is not for the good of the people and over the past years has become prevalent and routine.

A round of applause should be given to the Town Clerk, her staff and election workers. They perform an impeccable job against difficult odds.

Voters have a great impact on a local, state or federal election and should take the right and privilege to vote seriously. Do not abuse these rights for it is a gift passed down from one generation to another over the past two hundred years. Do not take this right lightly or someday it may be taken from you.

Investing in education

Dear Editor,
Over 100 million children worldwide will not attend primary school, over 60 million of whom are female's, which is more than twice the number of students currently enrolled in primary school in the United States.

Investing in education is the single most effective step that a country can take to fight global poverty. Education increases earning potential, slows HIV/AIDS infection rates, stabilizes population growth and improves child maternal health.

The value of education is the most important ingredient for the Millennium Development Goals for underdeveloped countries, to be realized. Universal access to education is possible.

We need a commitment from all the wealthy countries in our global community, to ensure all children receive a primary education by 2015.

I have added my voice to the fight for education, and I am asking you do the same and support increased funding for basic education around the world.

From the Good Guy Committee

Dear Editor,
The Wilmington Good Guy Committee would like to express our gratitude to all the Wilmington citizens who participated in our nomination process.

Wilmington has a large number of eligible Good Guys, all who deserve to be recognized and honored. Unfortunately, only one Good Guy can be elected in any given year. If your candidate was not elected this year, do not be discouraged; try again next year. Several of the past Good Guys were nominated two or more years before they received the award.

Once again, we thank you for your participation in this year's Good Guy program. We look forward to seeing you at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Friday, May 9, 2008 at 6:30 p.m. to honor this year's recipient.

Sincerely,

Let's not add to unemployment

Dear Town Crier,
After reading your article "Trash Talking," I would like to state my opinion. After being affected by unemployment, in my own home and the state of the economy, I would hate to see anyone else lose their job.

People depend on their jobs to keep their bills paid, a roof over their heads, feed their children, and to provide health care. With so many people losing their homes to foreclosures how can we, at this time, in good conscience, think about adding anyone else to the unemployment line?

I feel that the small savings is not worth the effect that it would have on someone's, and his or her family's, lives. If we want to cut costs in this town, I think we could find bigger fish to fry....

Fall of the machines

If you have been around a health club at all over the years, you may have heard the often repeated question, "Which is better; machines or free weights?" If you don't have a lot of experience with gym workouts, here is what you need to know about this fairly important question.

Let's talk about machines first. There are a ton of manufacturers out there making workout machines. They are usually sold as part of a circuit of anywhere from 4 to 14 different devices, each working a different muscle. The advantages of machines are largely convenience and ease of use. With a machine, you generally change the load used by moving a small pin up or down the weight stack, depending upon your needs. There are no actual plates to slide on and off. In addition, the total load is always plainly shown for the user on the weight stack, so mistakes are few and improvement can be easily monitored. One other advantage, if you can call it that, is the minimal requirement for weight training knowledge. The machine handles most of the thinking and the user just contracts the muscle involved.

The new generation of machines places a premium upon style and aesthetics. They look really cool! No questions there.

Sounds good to me. So what is the down side? Here is where the real world gets in the way. The machines move in a very specific way. The path the muscle in question follows is pre-set and unchangeable. There is a problem with this however. Is every user the same height? Does every user have the same level of flexibility? Is there any movement in everyday life that mimics this path? The answer to each of these questions is a resounding "No!" The truth is that some machines can actually injure the user by forcing the work load through the same path over and over again, possibly resulting in an overuse injury, like tendonitis. In addition, machines isolate the muscle. For example, if someone sits down and does a bicep curl on a machine, there is little if any usefulness to the movement in every day life - you just don't move that way every day. We humans are used to our body's muscles working in unison with each other, not in isolation. Also, you are expending valuable time to train one muscle at a time. Hence the amount of energy used (as in calories burned) is far less than an activity requiring total body movement. In the worst-case scenario, a machine can actually injure a user by forcing the muscle into a position the individual is not used to. The machine does not allow for the uniqueness of each lifter.

Free weights, on the other hand, are by definition, unrestricted in their path. Exercisers can do lunges, presses, curls, triceps extension, step ups etc, all in a path or range of motion their body can handle. The down side to free weights is that the user must have some technical knowledge as to how the movement should be done. But then again, if you do not get this kind of instruction from a certified professional, you should be running for the gym door anyway!

Free weights move like we all do in the real world. We are generally on our feet, carrying something, dragging something, lifting something at odd angles, reaching to the ground, etc.

Where is this all going? Here are some more "Fitness IQ" rules to follow:

- 1) Get a certified trainer or strength coach to show you correct technique.
- 2) Include movements in your workout that will help you stay healthy and fit in the "real world." Twisting, throwing, carrying, dragging, lifting over head, etc.

Remember what we were all designed for: Movement - not sitting still at either a desk or a machine! You can do it! Until next week...

Yours in Strength. Art

Letters to the editor

Democracy is not a spectator sport

Fellow Citizens,
Democracy is not a spectator sport. There are over 22,000 people in the town of Wilmington, and over 15,000 registered voters. At our recent town meeting, there was less than 1% of our population in attendance.

Do you wonder why? Could it be the low turn out is due to lack of interest, or that the people are just not being included as to what is happening with this town? I went grocery shopping after town meeting, and still had my voter sticker on. A shopper came up to me, and mentioned that he had watched the town meeting at home on television. I think it's okay to be a spectator, but strongly feel that we need more players.

How do we citizens become informed and engaged around an issue? A few ways come to mind: reading the newspapers, becoming involved with organizations, and relying on our appointed/elected officials to include us in the development of important matters.

It is the responsibility of our local print media to inform the public, and to provide enough details so the public can understand enough about local government to react to issues. Local town newspapers are more at risk for becoming partial to town officials, and not providing the people with the stories they should know about. Local town newspapers often won't take things a step further and risk writing articles that may "offend" those same officials. Some of our governmental leaders feel they have been elected/appointed to positions of power and respect, and that members of the public owe them obsequence. That may work in a hierarchical religion, but has not proven to be a successful model for achieving results in the private/public sector. Journalists should have the view that all public officials are servants of the public. This means that if citizens express concern about the actions of government, a responsible journalist should question those public officials not write editorials to please and serve them. Journalists are also servants of the people not government. Our elected/appointed officials have a responsibility to fulfill the requirements and duties of their jobs, and we citizens have an obligation to hold them accountable, and make sure they live up to those requirements and duties. Kudos to those who have the courage to hold our local newspaper editor as well as appointed/ elected officials accountable when they do not serve the people.

At town meeting, Article 22, an Inclusionary Bylaw put forth by the Planning Board, was withdrawn. There are groups and citizens in town support that support the adoption of an inclusionary bylaw, and the need for public process. With regard to the development of Article 22 put forth by the Planning Board (key word being development), I want to tell you that there was no public process. I believe the adoption of an inclusionary bylaw would have passed (not withdrawn) had there been continuous input from citizens, and not just the Planning Board. There was no public input with this article. Why? Because the planning board was not seriously interested in developing an inclusionary bylaw. The only reason that they put this on the town warrant was because they were mandated to (A fact that many are probably not aware of). Back in 2004, the town received a grant to develop a Community Development Plan. This grant was funded under executive order by the mass housing and community development authority, among others. The Master Plan Committee facilitated the development of the plan, and held public forums. Part of this grant money had to be used to develop an inclusionary by-law. The Community Development Plan was first to identify the objectives and desires of the community, and then the inclusionary by law was to be drafted in that vision. Article 22 was not drafted in that vision. It was drafted from a boilerplate inclusionary housing template that was slapped together behind closed doors with no public input. Specific recommendations were made in both plans regarding inclusionary housing. Article 22 went against the recommendations of both of these plans. The Planning Director and The Planning Board did not get their act together to make time for an inclusionary by-law, and include the public. We the people should hold them accountable, as should our local newspaper.

At the March 10th BOS meeting, residents expressed concern that the development of Article 22 was not a public process. The Director of Planning was quoted in The Wilmington Town Crier (March 13th edition) as saying, "the meetings to create this bylaw have all been public planning board meetings." Concerned that the development of this article was not transparent to the public, I reviewed the planning board meeting minutes from 2007 and 2008 to see for myself. What I found was that there was no discussion around the development of Inclusionary Housing, and specifically Article 22 during any of these planning board meetings. When I brought this to the attention of the Director of Planning, she stated that minor discussions would have taken place as part of her report to the Board. When I reviewed the minutes once again, there were no references to even minor discussions during these meetings. The community feels excluded, and somewhat deceived. I think we deserve better.

My point is that there was no transparency or public input into the development of this Article. All meetings concerning the development of important public matters should be conducted in an open and transparent way. If our local newspaper will not expose our appointed and elected officials for not doing their jobs, then it becomes even more critical that we the people must.

Frankenstein coming to Shawsheen Tech

BILLERICA - Opening night is May 15. The Drama Club at Shawsheen Technical High School in Billerica will be performing Frankenstein at the school's auditorium.

Generally, high school drama clubs take on funny, light-hearted plays, but the Shawsheen Tech students insist that this production will be more on the dramatic side.

"A lot of people are excited to try something different," said Nick Martucci, a senior from Tewksbury and Victor Frankenstein in the show. "This is our biggest challenge."

It was Martucci's suggestion to make this year's show a serious one.

"In August, right before school started, I emailed Mr. [Tim] Woodward and said I wanted to do something dramatic this year," Martucci said. "I suggested one of the classic horrors, either Dracula and Frankenstein, and we ended up finding a good script for Frankenstein."

And while a dramatic show is much more difficult than the lighter productions, junior Erica Loughlin of Billerica said the members of the Drama Club wanted to help Martucci finish his high school career on a memorable note.

"In the end we said 'This is Nick's last year, let's do something for him,'" she said. "It's been great."

"I liked the idea, but I was skeptical that it was something that we could pull off," said Woodward, the play's director and English teacher at Shawsheen Tech. "I wasn't sure that we had the numbers. It's a big show in a lot of ways."

But once Woodward found the proper script for the students to work on, it was full speed ahead.

"It's the most ambitious play we've done in my three years here," said Woodward. "But I think it's the best show we've done."

Martucci quickly started surfing the Internet, studying up on Frankenstein.

"People should expect some nice scares," he said. "This is definitely really classic horror. It's a good show."

Loughlin will play the role of Aunt Federica, the head of the Frankenstein household.

"I've loved theater since the third grade," said Loughlin, a health student at Shawsheen Tech that hopes to study psychology in college.

"It's a great cast and we're putting everything together now," Martucci said. "It's coming down to crunch time, but we're all having fun. You have to have a good time if you're doing something this serious."

Junior Kyle Newhall of Tewksbury will be playing the part of the monster.

"He's really good as a monster," said Martucci with a laugh. "He's able to get this really dead-pan stare."

"He's coming into his own," said Woodward. "He's going to be really good."

As entertaining as the performance promises to be, the show has also been a great testament to Shawsheen Tech as a school as nearly every shop in the building has contributed to the production.

"Carpentry build the whole set and this is the best set we've ever had," said Woodward. "All of the painting is being done by Commercial Art, Cosmetology students will do the hair and makeup, culinary will be involved with intermission bake-sale items, electrical is doing the laboratory affects, Graphic Arts prints up the programs and posters. The whole school really is involved."

Martucci said this production could be one of the most important for Shawsheen Tech's Drama Club.

"This is our make-or-break performance," Martucci said. "If this goes over really well, I think this drama club will have a lot more respect."

To purchase tickets to Frankenstein or for more information, call Shawsheen Tech at 978-667-2111.

Wilmington

Town Meeting could have been successfully completed three hours sooner if not for one single person who insists on taking up time at the microphone with a vendetta against sanity. Here's a thought: if year after year, you can't get a second on any of your motions, stop wasting everyone's time.

Wilmington

There is a reason why town meeting lasts all day in Wilmington, and that reason has a first name and a last name.

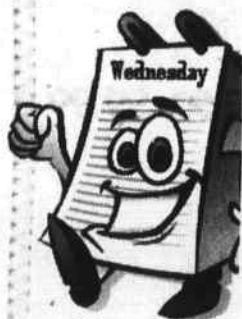

Wilmington

Thumbs down to the guy at town meeting who stands at the microphone all day saying terrible things about the police, fire, and other town employees. Some of us have other things we'd like to get done on a Saturday afternoon, not spend the whole day in the high school gym.

Wilmington

come your participation. Any organization from Wilmington who wish's to join them can contact The Dept. of Veterans Services at 121 Glen Rd. (Town Hall) or (978)694-2040 to pick up an application. Even if you have participated in the past, your organization needs to fill out a new application.

Tewksbury Post Office plans Passport Day

TEWKSBURY - Are you planning to travel abroad?

Well, Tewksbury Post Office, 1751 Main St., will make it easier for you by holding a special "Passport Day" on Saturday, May 17, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Postmaster Joanna M. Louf said the special hours should make it easier for parents with minor children applying for a passport because both parents must accompany children under 16 years of age.

There are new regulations requiring a passport for all air travel to and from Canada, Mexico, Central and South America, the Caribbean, and Bermuda.

The Post Office also takes passport photos for $15, she said, making the procedure a one-stop process.

She recommended persons

apply for their passports at least two months or earlier before their departure to avoid extra costs to expedite an application.

Other requirements in applying for a passport, she said, include: Evidence of citizenship, two passport photos, and current photo identification.

Passport fees can be paid by check or cash. Passports cost a total of $100 for persons 16 years of age and over; $85 for persons under age 16, and $75 for passports being renewed.

More information can be obtained by calling Tewksbury Post Office at (978) 851-6390.

To save time, passport applications can be downloaded at www.usps.com/passport to complete your passport beforehand, Louf said.

Winchester medication take back pilot program

WINCHESTER - Medicines save lives. Those which are expired or unwanted, however, should be handled in a safe manner. Drugs that accumulate in our medicine cabinets can contribute to accidental poisonings and illegitimate access that can lead to abuse. Much of the unwanted medicine that is flushed down toilets or thrown in the trash ends up in our surface or ground waters, potentially impacting wildlife and aquatic organisms.

Through a partnership also involving Winchester's Board of Health, Substance Abuse Coalition, Police Department and Department of Public Works, Winchester Hospital invites residents to participate in the town's Medication Take Back Pilot Program. The event, which is part of the town's Hazardous Waste Day, is being held on Saturday, May 10, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., in the Sons of Italy parking lot next to the Winchester transfer station at 12 Swanton Street.

Winchester Hospital pharmacist Norma Porras, who lives in Winchester, is volunteering her time to accept unwanted and expired medication for free and safe disposal. Accepted medications include all prescription drugs; over-the-counter medicine; herbal products; vitamin and mineral supplements; and throat lozenges. Items not being accepted include cosmetics; antiperspirants; toothpaste and mouthwash; antiseptic and medicated skin care products; hard surface and toilet disinfectant cleaners; contact lens disinfectants; and sunburn protection products.

Residents are advised to cross out their name and address to protect their privacy, though the name of the medication should remain visible on the label. Certain medications are disposed of differently according to state and federal regulation.

For more information about the Winchester Medication Take Back Pilot Program, call (781) 721-7121 or visit www.winchester.us. For more information about Winchester Hospital, visit www.winchesterhospital.org.

Frankenstein coming to Shawsheen Tech

BILLERICA - Opening night is May 15. The Drama Club at Shawsheen Technical High School in Billerica will be performing Frankenstein at the school's auditorium.

Generally, high school drama clubs take on funny, light-hearted plays, but the Shawsheen Tech students insist that this production will be more on the dramatic side.

"A lot of people are excited to try something different," said Nick Martucci, a senior from Tewksbury and Victor Frankenstein in the show. "This is our biggest challenge."

It was Martucci's suggestion to make this year's show a serious one.

"In August, right before school started, I emailed Mr. [Tim] Woodward and said I wanted to do something dramatic this year," Martucci said. "I suggested one of the classic horrors, either Dracula and Frankenstein, and we ended up finding a good script for Frankenstein."

And while a dramatic show is much more difficult than the lighter productions, junior Erica Loughlin of Billerica said the members of the Drama Club wanted to help Martucci finish his high school career on a memorable note.

"In the end we said 'This is Nick's last year, let's do something for him,'" she said. "It's been great."

"I liked the idea, but I was skeptical that it was something that we could pull off," said Woodward, the play's director and English teacher at Shawsheen Tech. "I wasn't sure that we had the numbers. It's a big show in a lot of ways."

But once Woodward found the proper script for the students to work on, it was full speed ahead.

"It's the most ambitious play we've done in my three years here," said Woodward. "But I think it's the best show we've done."

Martucci quickly started surfing the Internet, studying up on Frankenstein.

"People should expect some nice scares," he said. "This is definitely really classic horror. It's a good show."

Loughlin will play the role of Aunt Federica, the head of the Frankenstein household.

"I've loved theater since the third grade," said Loughlin, a health student at Shawsheen Tech that hopes to study psychology in college.

"It's a great cast and we're putting everything together now," Martucci said. "It's coming down to crunch time, but we're all having fun. You have to have a good time if you're doing something this serious."

Junior Kyle Newhall of Tewksbury will be playing the part of the monster.

"He's really good as a monster," said Martucci with a laugh. "He's able to get this really dead-pan stare."

"He's coming into his own," said Woodward. "He's going to be really good."

As entertaining as the performance promises to be, the show has also been a great testament to Shawsheen Tech as a school as nearly every shop in the building has contributed to the production.

"Carpentry build the whole set and this is the best set we've ever had," said Woodward. "All of the painting is being done by Commercial Art, Cosmetology students will do the hair and makeup, culinary will be involved with intermission bake-sale items, electrical is doing the laboratory affects, Graphic Arts prints up the programs and posters. The whole school really is involved."

Martucci said this production could be one of the most important for Shawsheen Tech's Drama Club.

"This is our make-or-break performance," Martucci said. "If this goes over really well, I think this drama club will have a lot more respect."

To purchase tickets to Frankenstein or for more information, call Shawsheen Tech at 978-667-2111.

With the prospect of new trash and recycling techniques in Wilmington on the horizon it brings to fore the question: What to do with our old recycling bins?

I'm going to send mine to the landfill!!!

Wilmington

Town Meeting could have been successfully completed three hours sooner if not for one single person who insists on taking up time at the microphone with a vendetta against sanity. Here's a thought: if year after year, you can't get a second on any of your motions, stop wasting everyone's time.

Wilmington

There is a reason why town meeting lasts all day in Wilmington, and that reason has a first name and a last name.

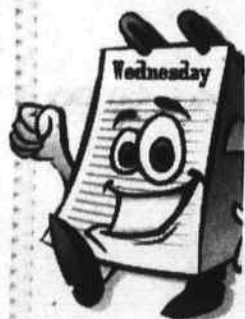

Wilmington

Thumbs down to the guy at town meeting who stands at the microphone all day saying terrible things about the police, fire, and other town employees. Some of us have other things we'd like to get done on a Saturday afternoon, not spend the whole day in the high school gym.

Wilmington

How about that divot on Middlesex Ave at the corner of Adelaide St. by the ball field. That must have taken some planning to make such a big hole invisible to the inspectors!

Tewksbury Post Office plans Passport Day

TEWKSBURY - Are you planning to travel abroad?

Well, Tewksbury Post Office, 1751 Main St., will make it easier for you by holding a special "Passport Day" on Saturday, May 17, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Postmaster Joanna M. Louf said the special hours should make it easier for parents with minor children applying for a passport because both parents must accompany children under 16 years of age.

There are new regulations requiring a passport for all air travel to and from Canada, Mexico, Central and South America, the Caribbean, and Bermuda.

The Post Office also takes passport photos for $15, she said, making the procedure a one-stop process.

She recommended persons

apply for their passports at least two months or earlier before their departure to avoid extra costs to expedite an application.

Other requirements in applying for a passport, she said, include: Evidence of citizenship, two passport photos, and current photo identification.

Passport fees can be paid by check or cash. Passports cost a total of $100 for persons 16 years of age and over; $85 for persons under age 16, and $75 for passports being renewed.

More information can be obtained by calling Tewksbury Post Office at (978) 851-6390.

To save time, passport applications can be downloaded at www.usps.com/passport to complete your passport beforehand, Louf said.

Winchester medication take back pilot program

WINCHESTER - Medicines save lives. Those which are expired or unwanted, however, should be handled in a safe manner. Drugs that accumulate in our medicine cabinets can contribute to accidental poisonings and illegitimate access that can lead to abuse. Much of the unwanted medicine that is flushed down toilets or thrown in the trash ends up in our surface or ground waters, potentially impacting wildlife and aquatic organisms.

Through a partnership also involving Winchester's Board of Health, Substance Abuse Coalition, Police Department and Department of Public Works, Winchester Hospital invites residents to participate in the town's Medication Take Back Pilot Program. The event, which is part of the town's Hazardous Waste Day, is being held on Saturday, May 10, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., in the Sons of Italy parking lot next to the Winchester transfer station at 22 Swanton Street.

Winchester Hospital pharmacist Norma Porras, who lives in Winchester, is volunteering her time to accept unwanted and expired medication for free and safe disposal. Accepted medications include all prescription drugs; over-the-counter medicine; herbal products; vitamin and mineral supplements; and throat lozenges. Items not being accepted include cosmetics; antiperspirants; toothpaste and mouthwash; antiseptic and medicated skin care products; hard surface and toilet disinfectant cleaners; contact lens disinfectants; and sunburn protection products.

Residents are advised to cross out their name and address to protect their privacy, though the name of the medication should remain visible on the label. Certain medications are disposed of differently according to state and federal regulation.

For more information about the Winchester Medication Take Back Pilot Program, call (781) 721-7121 or visit www.winchester.us. For more information about Winchester Hospital, visit www.winchesterhospital.org.

Andrew Fino (left) and Matthew Palermo (right) brought 160 pounds of tabs to the local Aleppo Shriners Auditorium recently. The two middle school students spearheaded a tab collection program as part of their National Jr. Society Leadership project. Andrew and Matt created flyers and distributed them to the Woburn Street School, North Intermediate and the Wilmington Middle School asking their peers to help save the tabs which were donated to the Aleppo Shriners Children's Transportation Fund. The students at the schools were busy collecting the tabs from November 5, 2007, to March 31, in 'drop off' boxes that Andrew and Matt left. They then consolidated and weighed them, amassing four large bags, three of which weighed in at fifty pounds each, to bring to the Shriners. The Shriners use the money from recycling the tabs for helping with the transportation for patients and families of patients in the Shriners hospitals.

Winchester Hospital named one of best places to work

WINCHESTER - Winchester Hospital has been named one of Boston Business Journal's Best Places to Work in Massachusetts for the sixth year in a row. The honor recognizes the hospital's achievements in creating a positive work environment that attracts and retains employees through a combination of employee satisfaction, working conditions and company culture.

Winchester Hospital made the top 20 list in the large-size category based on the results of employee surveys conducted throughout the spring. The top 20 companies in three size categories - small (20-100 employees), midsize (101-500 employees) and large (more than 500 employees) - will be listed in a special supplement of Boston Business Journal to be delivered to subscribers on June 13.

This year's top ranking organizations were chosen from 392 nominations, making it the largest program in the event's four-year history.

"We're honored by this recognition, especially because employee satisfaction is among our top corporate goals," said Winchester Hospital President and CEO Dale Lodge. "We are committed to providing our employees with a dynamic and rewarding work environment that, in turn, allows them to deliver top quality patient care."

"With the hiring market so tight, a quality workplace truly is a competitive advantage," said George Donnelly, editor of the Boston Business Journal. "Employees respond to a flexible yet challenging culture and company leaders who lead by example."

A countdown celebration breakfast will be held at the Marriott Boston Copley Place on Tuesday, June 10 to announce the final rankings, including the 2008 No. 1 Best Place to Work in each category.

The 2008 Best Places to Work surveys address topics such as work environment, job satisfaction, work-life balance, support and recognition of achievement, advancement opportunities, relationships with co-workers and supervisors, management compensation and benefits.

Meghan meets North Reading residents

Edy's Grand Ice Cream and Stop & Shop partner to offer scoops of ice cream to customers who support pediatric cancer research and care and the Triple Winner Game®

NORTH READING - On Scoop Day, members of the general public met Meghan, a 15-year old from Tewksbury who has courageously undergone brain surgery and completed multiple rounds of radiation, and is a 2008 member of the Triple Winner family. Meghan is a beneficiary of The Jimmy Fund® Dana Farber Cancer Institute. Edy's Grand Ice Cream and Stop & Shop partnered on Saturday, May 3rd to offer scoops of ice cream to customers who support pediatric cancer research and the Triple Winner Game.

On Saturday, May 3, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., Edy's Grand Ice Cream and Stop & Shop hosted "Free Scoop Day," where Edy's offered a free scoop of Edy's Grand Ice Cream at all Stop & Shop locations to customers who donated $1 to the Triple Winner Game® to support pediatric cancer research and care. Customers who donate $3 received a free scoop of ice cream and a special American Idol "Hot Tracks" CD with music recorded by former American Idol performers.

Edy's gave out more than 50,000 scoops of ice cream to generous customers throughout the Stop & Shop chain. 100 percent of customer donations went towards fighting childhood cancer. Donations made in Stop & Shop's New England stores went to The Jimmy Fund.

The event is part of Stop & Shop's Triple Winner Game, a scratch card promotion in which every ticket can be an instant winner of either a free product, a gift card or cash prize up to $10,000. The program allows customers who make a $1 donation in any Stop & Shop store to receive a Triple Winner Game ticket. Triple Winner will raise more than $5.25 million in 2008 to fight pediatric cancer. To further support Triple Winner charities, Edy's Grand Ice Cream will donate $25,000 from the sale of its Slow Churned Take the Cake limited edition flavor. The Free Scoop Day and Take the Cake donation combined will help Edy's raise an anticipated $100,000 for pediatric cancer charities. * No purchase was necessary. See official rules for details.

Spring art show

Spring was in the air this past Saturday, May 5th at the Spring Art Show, held in the Memory Care Neighborhood at The Isle at Emerald Court in Tewksbury. The artwork was impressive in its variety and the quality of the craftsmanship.

Each piece was created by a member of the MCN. The residents in the MCN have Alzheimers or another type of memory issue.

Art pieces ranged from paintings in acrylic, oil, and water color, to handmade jewelry, and even concrete garden stepping stones.

Refreshments were enjoyed by all and the event was serenaded by Joan Decker's sons, Ray and Chris.

Harnois Chiropractic Office now offers the leading non-surgical option for low back and neck pain

TEWKSBURY - Harnois Chiropractic Office is now offering SpineMED® Decompression, the leading Non-Surgical, Drug Free procedure for people suffering with chronic lower back and neck pain. SpineMED® performs a specialized procedure called spinal decompression, that is, unloading of the spine due to distraction and positioning. SpineMED® is designed to restore health and hydration to damaged intervertebral discs and provide relief for patients suffering from spinal disc injury or degeneration. "We're excited to bring this new conservative care option to our community," says Dr. David Harnois. It gives our practice a new treatment option for patients who have failed to find relief from other conservative therapies or who are facing the prospect of back surgery."

"Low back pain is a growing epidemic among industrialized societies. In the United States it is the most common work related disorder. The cost to industry is staggering, with estimates running 20 billion dollars or more annually," says Dan Monaghan, CERT Health Sciences. "And, as the population ages, the number of cases is likely to grow."

The SpineMED® protocol consists of 20 sessions, lasting 30 minutes each. SpineMED® gently targets injured spinal segments to providing precision distraction without the use of ropes, harnesses or pulleys.

Under distraction, the pressure on the spinal discs may dramatically decrease. This decrease in disc pressure can promote the body's natural healing process and may significantly reduce back and neck pain.

Harnois Chiropractic Office is now offering live demonstrations and free consultations of the SpineMED® System for those suffering with a herniated or bulging disc, pinched nerve, sciatica, or other disc-related injury. To schedule an interview with one of our doctors or to arrange a demonstration, please contact:

A journey of the soul

Tewksbury Hospital is pleased to present, A Journey of the soul an exhibit of the work of Muriel Angelil in the Hospital's Art & Healing Exhibit Space.

"We are so fortunate to have outstanding artists, such as Muriel Angelil, share their works with our clients, staff and visitors here at Tewksbury Hospital," states Sandra Akers, CEO. "Reflecting on their art broadens our sense community and view point, and we hope likewise the public's understanding of the Hospital community."

About the artist:

Muriel Angelil, artist, print-maker, sculptor, has created a body of work through the last ten years to describe her journey discovering: Who she is. "Art is a healing modality and through art I express my visions and emotions in lyrical and storytelling ways", Muriel tells.

Each of the artworks is a unique monotypes of a memory, a thought or a feeling. Art is a healing modality and through art Angelil expresses her visions and emotions in lyrical and storytelling ways. Two monotypes show a child in the first one created ten years ago the child looks forlorn, alone and sad, the second one shows the child smiling and a dancing figure surrounding her. Another monotypes entitled: Footprints in the snow, shows someone sitting looking at a small river flowing. Angelil considers the river as a metaphor for life and the footprints are her journey in this life.

Muriel Angelil's monotypes are bold and colorful. They are visual metaphors of her path but can be looked at and appreciated and reinterpreted as a metaphor for one's own life.

Muriel Angelil has an M.F.A. from Vermont College and a Masters in Art Education from Rhode Island School of Design. She has exhibited her work widely locally and nationally. Angelil presently lives in Amesbury and is also a healer and a teacher. She can be reached at: mmangelil@yahoo.com

One of the many facets of Art's program is three year collaboration with the Mass Cultural Council and the Vermont Arts Exchange which is made possible through a Jane's Trust Grant. The goal of this program is to bring highly qualified artists in residence to the hospital.

Desert Solitaire by Edward Abbey

"Every man, every woman, carries in heart and mind the image of the ideal place, the one true home, known or unknown, actual or visionary." ~ Desert Solitaire, page 1
Join the BookEnds, the library's book discussion group, as they embark on a journey to explore Edward Abbey's ideal place - the desert West. Set in the Arches National Monument near the little town of Moab in southeast Utah, Abbey's book chronicles the three seasons he spent working as a park ranger during the mid-1950s. Abbey's writing is passionate, poetic, and haunting as he rejoices in the vast loneliness of the desert and despairs at the commercialization of the national park system. All those who enjoy a good romp outside or who like reading adventure stories are sure to appreciate this book! Copies of the book are available at the library's main circulation desk. All who have read the book are welcome to attend the discussion at the library on Thursday evening, June 5th, at 7 p.m.

In Memory of George Boylen
George Boylen, who died last year, was a former library trustee, a library advocate and an avid reader. With funds received in memory of Mr. Boylen, the Wilmington Memorial Library has purchased a new microfilm cabinet to house the microfilm reels of the Wilmington Town Crier and the Wilmington Advocate. This cabinet is located next to the microfilm reader printer near the computers on the first floor of the library. The new microfilm cabinet replaces an unattractive larger cabinet and visually opens the space in this area of the library. Thank you to the family of George Boylen for choosing the library as a place for donations in his memory. Thank you also to all the friends and family who made donations to the library.

Thank You Friends

Thank you to the Friends of the Library for purchasing a new handsome octagon book display unit for the library. This display unit, that matches the new furnishings on the first floor, will feature "hot title" books. Check here for the latest bestsellers. Due to popular demand, hot titles can be borrowed for one week with 25 cents per day late fee.

Gary Sredzienski, Accordion Warrior, to play May 16 at the Carter Lecture

The Sarah D. J. Carter Fund Committee will present Gary Sredzienski, Accordion Warrior, at the Wilmington Middle School Auditorium on Friday, May 16, 2008 at 7 pm.

A lively program of traditional, ethnic, and folk music will be performed by Gary, free of charge, on the piano accordion. His solo recordings on his own Bellows Music label have landed him national performances with various cultural organizations.

Gary, who hosts a 1950's style ethnic radio show, "Polka Party", weekly on WUNH-FM in Durham, has represented

New Hampshire at both the Smithsonian Folklife Festival and the Lowell National Folk Festival. He has also performed throughout Romania on a tour sponsored by the Smithsonian Folklife Center, the State Department and the Governor of N.H.

As a N.H. Artist-in-Residence Gary presents educational programs in N.H. schools on a regular basis. He is a member of the N.H. State Council on the Arts Touring and Arts Education Roster.

Gary began his professional career at about ten years of age when he traveled around New England performing with a vaudeville act called the Hog Hollow Hooters. In addition to his many solo performances he has appeared with the Lublin Polish Song and Dance Ensemble of Haverhill-Boston, the Birka Scandinavian Dancers of Hamilton, MA, Ballet New England, Voices from the Heart Women's Chorus, with Bill Zecker, and the Retro "60s rock-and-roll band, "The Serfs."

To quote Gary Sredzienski: "The piano accordion is an amazingly versatile instrument with roots in many cultures. I have dedicated my life's work to preserving the "Old World" tradition of the performing accordionist. Over the years my love of the accordion has transported me to cultural venues which share diverse musical forms and traditions." Gary has amassed a collection of over fifty accordions of various sizes, shapes, and origins, as well as a collection of thousands of old recordings and sheet music.

Bird-a-thon

TOPSFIELD — Is it a bird...or a plane? Come find out at this year's super Bird-a-thon offering anyone with an interest in birds the opportunity to participate in Mass Audubon's 25th year of friendly birding competition while raising money for our wildlife sanctuaries and programs. In fact, the Bird-a-thon pledges that you earn through your birding, or collect from donors, directly benefit the event's super heroes: birds. Can we count on you to team up with your family, friends, and neighbors, or make a pledge to help Mass Audubon protect the nature of Massachusetts?

Started in 1983, the statewide Bird-a-thon has grown to 24 teams and more than 630 staff and volunteers who help raise thousands of dollars to benefit Mass Audubon's efforts to protect wildlife. The 24-hour competition starts at 6 p.m. on Friday, May 16, and runs through 6 p.m. on Saturday,

May 17.

Mass Audubon will award numerous prizes, including trophies to three teams in the following categories: most money raised, most species recorded, and largest percentage increase of money raised (from the previous year). Team members who raise a minimum of $75, or obtain 10 sponsor pledges, will receive a 2008 Mass Audubon Bird-a-thon T-shirt.

Even if you can't join a team, you can still participate by pledging money to a team member for each bird species recorded during the 24-hour event. If 20 people collected 10 pledges, each at 10 cents a species, and if the sanctuary sees 200 species, the sanctuary raises $4,000—to help protect wildlife right in your neighborhood. To join a team, make a pledge or donation, or find out more, call Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary at 978-887-9264 or visit www.massaudubon.org/birdath on.

Mass Audubon works to protect the nature of Massachusetts for people and wildlife. Together with more than 100,000 members, we care for 33,000 acres of conservation land, provide educational programs for 200,000 children and adults annually, and advocate for sound environmental policies at the local, state, and federal levels. Mass Audubon's mission and actions have expanded since our beginning in 1896 when our founders set out to stop the slaughter of birds for use on women's fashions. Today we are the largest conservation organization in New England. Our statewide network of 45 wildlife sanctuaries welcomes visitors of all ages and serves as the base for our conservation, education, and advocacy work. To support these important efforts, call 800-AUDUBON (283-8266) or visit www.massaudubon.org.

Thinking about welcoming an exchange student? Now's the time.

Sharing daily life with a teenager from another country and culture is a rich and rewarding experience, and it's a wonderful way to bring more understanding into the world. If you've ever thought about welcoming an exchange student into your home and family, now's the time to learn more. AFS, the leading international high school student exchange program, needs families in our community to host high school students for an academic year or six months. Students arrive in August.

All kinds of families can host—two-parent households with young children or teenagers, single-parent families, families with adopted children, foster parents, as well as couples and single people who do not have children or who have grown children. One of the most important characteristics of a host family is being eager and excited to share your life and activities while providing the same kind of care, support, and comfort as you would to your own child.

AFS students come from more than 40 countries and represent many different cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. Local AFS Volunteers enroll students in high school and support students and their families to help both gain the most from their experience. In addition to host families, AFS needs people who are interested in becoming volunteer liaisons to work locally with families and their hosted students. Anyone interested in learning more about hosting or volunteering with AFS should visit www.afs.org/usa/hostfamily or call 1-800-AFS-INFO. AFS Intercultural Programs/USA is a nonprofit, 501(c)(3) organization. The mission of AFS is to work toward a more just and peaceful world by providing international and intercultural learning experiences to individuals, families, schools, and communities through a global volunteer partnership.

Danversbank hosting food drive

During the month of May, Danversbank (<http://www.danversbank.com>) is hosting a drive for food pantries across its branch network. Kevin Noyes, 1st Vice President in charge of charitable giving at the bank, organizes the drive on an annual basis. Despite the range of organizations that bank personnel contacted in preparation for the drive, there was a common need among all of them.

"Of course, any donations are welcome," explained Noyes. "But we found that the majority of pantries we spoke to are in need of staple items like cereal, juice boxes for the summer, and peanut butter and jelly. So we're asking our employees and customers to donate those specific items in the branches."

Thirteen different food pantries will benefit from the collections at Danversbank's fourteen branches. The food drive runs from May 1st until the 25th; drop-off locations and the benefiting food pantries are listed below:

- * Andover, 18 Central Street (Connum Meal Center of Lawrence)
- * Beverly, 100 Cummings Center (Beverly Bootstraps Food Pantry)
- * Chelsea, 357 Beacham Street (ROCA Inc.)
- * Danvers, 1 Conant Street and 3 Federal Street (Danvers People to People Food Pantry)
- * Malden, 1 Salem Street (Bread of Life)
- * Middleton, 2 Central Street (Friends of the Flint Neighbors in Need)
- * Peabody, 2 Central Street (Haven from Hunger)
- * Reading, 31 Harnden Street (The Reading Food Pantry)
- * Revere, 310 Broadway (Revere Food Pantry)
- * Salem, 125 Canal Street (St. Joseph's Food Pantry)
- * Saugus, 584 Broadway, Rt 1 North (Saugus Food Pantry)

- * Wilmington, 579 Main Street (Wilmington Food Pantry)
- * Woburn, 400 W Cummings Park (Woburn Council of Social Concern)

About Danversbank

Danversbank is the principal subsidiary of Danvers Bancorp, Inc. (NASDAQ: DNBK). The bank was founded in 1850 and is a 1.6 billion dollar financial institution operating out of fourteen locations in Andover, Beverly, Chelsea, Danvers (2), Malden, Middleton, Peabody, Reading, Revere, Salem, Saugus, Wilmington and Woburn. The bank also has a full service Commercial Banking office at One Post Office Square in Boston. Three new branches will open in 2008: a second Salem location on Traders Way and a second Malden location on Commercial Street; and the Wilmington office will move to Wilmington.

Neighborhood Parcel postal centers appeal to consumers and businesses

Consumers and businesses sending small packages are increasingly bypassing the Post Office for a more appealing alternative. They are relying on thousands of independent retail mail and parcel centers throughout the United States that offer a wider choice of services and products, as well as better customer service. They also often find better shipping rates, especially after the recent postal rate hike, at neighborhood retail mail and parcel centers, such as Neighborhood Parcel at 553 Main Street in Tewksbury.

"Our customers know we often offer lower rates for small packages shipped using alternative shipping services," said Neighborhood Parcel, who's Neighborhood Parcel, is part of the Neighborhood Postal Centers (NPC) network of more than 2,200 mail and parcel shipping locations throughout the United States, all of them independently-owned small businesses. Rates are based on the weight of the package, the distance it is being shipped, as well as the speed of shipment.

Tewksbury resident, Hanson Bechat, owns and operates the Tewksbury store and notes, "Our business is community driven and operates on low margins. We are always eager to help our neighbors with all their shipping needs."

Bechat adds, "While Neighborhood Parcel is a small local business, its website provides a gateway to a wide international market and has business accounts around the world with clients as far away as Qatar, Romania and Canada."

"Whether you're an individual sending one package, or a business shipping many small packages, you'll likely find much more competitive rates and more choices at your Neighborhood Postal Center than at the Post Office, said Bechat. In addition, NPC member retail mail and parcel centers offer a range of services and products, including packing and boxes, provided by knowledgeable, friendly store owners and staff." He said the expert help and advice available at Neighborhood Parcel can solve any packing and shipping problems.

"Large, heavy or awkwardly-shaped items can be professionally packed for shipping at our Neighborhood Postal Centers, often at rates that beat the Post Office, which cannot match our customer service. For example, with summer here, whether you're shipping a heavy camp trunk off to your children's summer camp or sending them a box of grandma's cookies, the shipping help you need is available my Neighborhood Postal Center location," said Bechat. "The trunk will arrive on time, and the cookies will be expertly packed so your kids will receive them without a crumb missing."

Ebay sellers are increasingly going to Neighborhood Parcel to ship their items, Bechat continued. "And merchandise bought on ebay—or from anywhere—can be shipped to my store and held for pickup, if no one can be home to receive it."

"Actually, any package can be shipped to another Neighborhood Postal Center to be held for pickup there if the recipient is never at home during the day to receive it," he said.

Similarly, businesses are using Neighborhood Parcel more than ever for packing and shipping expertise, a greater range of services, choice of carriers and faster service, many times at lower costs than the Post Office," said Bechat.

RMLD reaches 50% of "Change a Light, Change the World" goal

READING - Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) customers have made it possible for RMLD to reach 50% of its Change a Light, Change the World campaign goal of reaching 1,000 customers to make a pledge to reduce greenhouse gases. RMLD joined the national ENERGY STAR® campaign along with a growing community of businesses, schools, utilities, non-profit organizations, individuals and countless others who have made a firm commitment to help change the world, one light — one energy-saving step — at a time.

"With pledges from 500 individuals to change 7,530 bulbs, the savings translates to an energy savings of 2,123,260 kilowatt hours, a cost savings of $197,482 and a reduction of 3,079,770 pounds of greenhouse gases," said RMLD General Manager Vinnie Cameron. "We are proud to have environmentally-aware communities helping make a difference by taking energy-saving steps at home, as well as at their place of business."

At this rate of commitment from RMLD customers, each averages changing 15 bulbs. As part of this national initiative, RMLD set a goal of encouraging 1,000 individuals to pledge to replace at least one standard bulb or fixture at home with one that has earned the government's ENERGY STAR label, as an important step to save energy and join the fight against global climate change. RMLD hopes to attain the 1,000 pledge goal by June 1.

RMLD began its effort on February 15 and is working with 13 elementary schools in Reading, North Reading, Wilmington and Lynnfield to reach out to students and their families.

Based on its enrollment, the school in each community with the highest percentage of pledgers will receive a $2,000 RMLD grant to make energy efficient improvements to their school.

If you have not already pledged, RMLD encourages you to make a simple, yet meaningful commitment by taking the online ENERGY STAR Change a Light Pledge. Area lighting accounts for about 20 percent of the typical home's electricity use. Replacing standard lights typically left on longest at home with energy-efficient options that use 75% less energy is a significant way to cut energy costs while also preventing greenhouse gas emissions from power plants. To take the pledge, simply:

- Log on to www.rmld.com.
- Click the scroll bar ENERGY STAR's Change a Light, Change the World, (links to www.energystar.gov/changealight).
- Enter your first name, e-mail and zip code.
- Select Reading Municipal Light Department (default is set here).
- Enter how many bulbs you plan to replace.
- Submit your pledge. Help demonstrate that RMLD customers are a significant part of this vital national movement.

To be eligible to join, students must have achieved a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.5 at the end of their first semester.

Founded in 1923 at the University of Illinois, Phi Eta Sigma encourages and rewards academic excellence among freshmen in institutions of higher learning. The organization is an outward recognition of personal accomplishment and serves as an incentive for continued high scholarship. The honor society also provides freshmen honorees the opportunity to meet other scholars from all academic disciplines on campus and to join in the promotion of academic excellence.

Hogan honored at Shawsheen Tech

BILLERICA - Kaitlin Hogan of Tewksbury was named one of March's Seniors of the Month at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School.

The awards are sponsored by the Billerica Elks.

Hogan is the daughter of Don Hogan and Karen Geier.

To see what a versatile student-athlete Hogan has proven to be at Shawsheen Tech, simply look at her background in athletics. In four years, Hogan has participated in five different varsity sports including four years with the varsity softball team.

The two-year captain is currently leading the Ram softball squad to another terrific spring season after a winter of basketball and a fall of volleyball. Hogan has also competed on the swim team and the cross country team at Shawsheen Tech.

"I love it," she said. "I'm always doing something."

While many outside the halls of the school likely know Hogan's name because of sports, she's recognizable inside Shawsheen Tech for her efforts in the classroom.

The honor-roll student is ranked within the top 25 of a group that exceeds 300 and last year helped a SkillsUSA team reach the state finals. This year, Hogan and her teammates reunited and advanced to states once again as part of the Team Works competition.

Hogan, Steve Tello of Wilmington, George D'Amelio of Wilmington and Ron Stocker of Billerica will compete in the state finals on May 1 and will combine their efforts to build several different aspects of a house. This same group went to the state finals in the event last year.

"It's really exciting that they're returning," said Meg Costello, a SkillsUSA advisor at Shawsheen Tech.

John Bagni, an electrical instructor at the school, credited Hogan with being particularly unselfish.

"We talked her into staying on the team because we really needed her," he said. "She could have gone to nationals individually."

Hogan's shop at Shawsheen Tech is masonry, but she plans to attend college and earn a degree in teaching. She'd like to continue playing sports in college as well.

Hogan also volunteers her time teaching Sunday school, being a counselor at Give Kids the World, a summer camp from children with life-threatening illnesses based in Florida, and in October, she'll go on a mission trip to Mexico to help build an orphanage through the Tewksbury Congregational Church.

Hogan credits her time at Shawsheen Tech with helping her be successful in several aspects of life.

"I would never go anywhere else," she said.

Derek Boutwell, of Billerica, was named as the other Senior of the Month.

No election for Planning Board

The fates of 28 warrant articles decided

process for a priority development site. The site is located along Interstate 93 and is part of the parcel of land spanning Wilmington, Tewksbury, and Andover that being proposed to host a new I-93 interchange and mixed-use development.

Sorrentino explained that the article relates to the planning exercise that Wilmington has been engaged in (since August 2006) with Tewksbury and Andover for the Interchange Project. He noted that the article limits use on the site until an interchange exists, and the immediate benefit would be eligibility for the town to apply for up to $150,000 in planning funds for the land. One resident expressed concern that any project built there would disturb the buffer zone between the Wilmington well fields and the Tewksbury contamination site and another questioned the Board of Selectmen's ability to oversee something so complicated, but in the end the article passed 70 to 48.

The Planning Board put forth Article 21 to create a Highway Industrial District. Planning Director Carole Hamilton said, "This is an economic opportunity to bring 30,000 square foot businesses to areas appropriate for use with easy access to highways." According to Hamilton, it would preserve the character of the center of Wilmington by not permitting developments to have any single tenant larger than 30,000 square feet.

Article 21 was amended on the floor to include a requirement that any new facilities be built to a "gold" or higher rating standard for "green" buildings. The Boston standard is "silver" and Hamilton questioned why Wilmington would jump straight to gold instead of phasing it in over time, but the amendment was accepted and voters approved the amended article.

According to Town Counsel Paul DeRensis, Article 20, to establish a Sewer district by-law, amounted to "a request to update the 1958 statute and incorporate the recommendations of the Comprehensive Waste Water Management plan." The article called for the creation of sewer districts, within which sewer service would be available and outside of which septic systems would be used. It would also require a two-thirds vote at town meeting for any future expansion of the sewer districts. Article 20 passed unanimously.

Pertaining to Article 17, voters debated the benefits of appointments versus elections for the Planning Board positions. Some voters worried that the politics of elections would taint the planning process. Others expressed their concern that in the past, appointments may have moved people up into positions they are not qualified to accept. School Committee Chairman Peggy Kane reminded everyone that in the recent election there were uncontested races for two of the most influential boards in the Town. Selectman Charles Fiore said

"If it ain't broke, don't fix it." Article 17 was defeated.

$40,000 for the purchase of two replacement minivans for the School Department

$106,000 for two one-ton trucks for Highway and Tree Divisions

Article 10: (Approved) Requested that surpluses in one area of the budget (totaling $580,000) might be used to fill shortfalls of the same amount in another area of the budget. Most of the shortfalls were due to rising energy costs.

Article 11: (Approved) Requested money for providing senior citizen work opportunities for services related to the town in accordance with the Town's Senior Citizen Tax Work-Off Program. The Town Manager anticipates that this will allow at least 24 seniors to participate in the program in FY09.

Article 12: (Approved) Requested $6,000 funding for the observance of Memorial Day and Veterans' Day.

Article 13: (Approved) Requested $1,500 for renewing the leases of the VFW headquarters and the American Legion Clubhouse.

Article 14: (Approved) Requested the Town reauthorize revolving accounts, a request related to the compost bin revolving account and the septic system repair account.

Article 15: (Approved unanimously) Requested acceptance of streets - Chisholm Way and Sequoia Drive.

Article 16: (Approved unanimously) Requested to authorize the Board of Selectmen to erect a permanent monument in memory of Army Private First Class John F. Landry, Jr. who was killed in action March 17, 2007 while serving his country in Iraq.

Article 17: (Defeated) Petitioned to change the Planning Board from an appointed board to an elected board.

Article 18: (Approved by two-thirds majority) To see if the Town would vote to amend the Zoning by-laws with regard to the Board of Appeals, among the changes listed it would make the Board of Appeals consist of five appointed members serving five-year terms instead of three full-member appointments and three associate-member appointments for three-year terms.

Article 19: (Approved) Requests the authorization to accept 43D legislation for expedited permitting process for a specific parcel of land.

Article 20: (Approved unanimously) Establishment of a Sewer District By-Law.

Article 21: (Approved) To see if the Town would vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw and associated Zoning map to establish a Highway Industrial District.

Article 22: (Motion to "pass over" this was approved, motion dead) To see if the Town would vote to amend the Zoning Bylaw by adding a new subsection, 3.9, for Inclusionary Housing.

Article 23: (Approved) The first of the resident submitted articles, this one requests to authorize the Board of Selectmen to request the State Legislature to authorize Darryl Sencabaugh to be allowed to have his test results for the Massachusetts Fire Fighters Civil Service Exam (April 2008) be allowed for any employment consideration as a fire fighter in Wilmington.

Article 24: (Amended and approved) Originally phrased "To see if the Town will 'give' graduated Tax Relief to seniors age 65 and over at an initial rate of a 5% discount with an additional 5% added to that for every five years over 65", it was re-worded to "request" the graduated Tax Relief and to send it to Wilmington's State Delegation for their consideration.

Article 25: (Motion Defeated) Requested a zoning change from General Business to Central Business for a property located at 362 Middlesex Avenue. Although on the surface this was simply a resident trying to change zoning to allow for he and his wife to live in an apartment in the top of an existing building, abutters raised concerns that to their detriment the zoning change could allow for other housing to go on the site should someone else purchase the land in the future.

Article 26: (Approved by two-thirds majority) Requested authorization for Selectmen to enter into an agreement to sell a Town-owned parcel of property located on Nickerson Avenue.

Article 27: (Declared non-surplus land by Town Manager so no action was taken) Requested authorization of the transfer of care, custody, management and control of a parcel of land no longer needed for municipal purposes. This refers to a property on Walnut Street.

Article 28: (Approved unanimously) Requests the Town to sell, relinquish or convey a portion of certain easement rights on Marion Street that are currently held by the Town.

handgun that the suspect had dropped. He called to Rooney and Cadigan to cuff the suspect, but the man broke off and made a run for it. Having established a head start, the suspect was able to make it across Route 62 into the woods near Andover Street and evade capture.

A perimeter was quickly established and a full-scale search, which stretched into Hathaway Acres and the surrounding neighborhoods, was initiated. Several K-9 units, State Police, and the State Police helicopter assisted in the search.

Within approximately two hours, Christopher Wiese, 23, of Old Andover Road in North Reading, was found hiding in the bed of a pick-up truck on Salem Street. Wiese was charged with carrying a firearm without a license, possessing a burglarious instrument (lock-picking set), and illegally possessing a Class C substance.

Instead of a trial in which the state would have to prove murder, LaBarre will have to prove insanity to avoid a life in prison and be sent instead to a psychiatric ward, where her status would be reviewed every five years.

LaBarre has been held since April 2006 in Countie's death. He had lived with her. Police long suspected LaBarre also killed Deloge, another live-in boyfriend. They met when he lived at a homeless shelter in Portsmouth.

A jury will have to decide whether LaBarre was insane and unable to control her actions.

Mr. Tuttle's many ferns

Audubon Society at the Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in Topsfield, and used to conduct the annual bird count in Wilmington.

During his lunch break from Avco, Tuttle would visit the Town Park, a short walk from the back entrance to Avco. The park was once the farm of Caleb Eames.

Some time before 1893, Caleb Eames' widow sold it to the town and the farm became the town poor farm - a home to people who were unable to care for themselves. There was a superintendent, who lived there with his family. And there were the residents, who worked as farm hands. The farm was also open to itinerants, who could have a night's lodging in exchange for doing some chores, such as chopping wood. The farm made money for the town, in addition to its role of providing for some people in unfortunate situations.

On New Year's Day each year, the selectmen would visit the farm for dinner, served by the superintendent and his wife. Their report would then be published in the town report.

After the farmhouse burned in the 1920s, the farm became the Veterans' Memorial Park, in memory of soldiers killed in World War I.

Exactly 75 years ago, on April 29, 1933, students from Wilmington High School, along with the Wilmington Women's Club, dedicated the park as the school forest. The Park Committee planted 4,500 pine trees as an Arbor Day project.

A ball field was built there, and the Wilmington High School teams would play there. The field has been improved over the years, and now has lighting for evening softball games. The field has been named for Tom Aprile, a local athlete who died before his time.

At one point, the town installed a ski tow on the hill in the park, powered by an old truck engine. That engine fell victim to vandals, and that was the end of the ski tow.

But there is much more to the Town Park than the ball field. Across the back of the property run the remains of the Middlesex Canal, the first commercial canal in the United States, in operation in the early 19th Century. There is an "ox-bow" of the canal, where the canal boats were towed around a curve. There is a boulder where marks from the towropes may be seen. Nearby is an aqueduct, which carried the canal over Maple Meadow Brook.

The park has other treasures, and it was Frank Tuttle who found them. During his lunchtime visits to the park, in the summer of 1968, he began listing the plant species he found there. The following year, he listed 193 species of flowering native plants.

Then he took on the fern population. By September 1968, he had catalogued 23 varieties of ferns. Six years later, he announced that he had listed 48 varieties, all found in Town Park.

Mr. Tuttle teamed up with Arthur Allgrove, a local nurseryman who specialized in native plants. They introduced 25 native species of plants to the park.

Other than the ball field, the Town Park is Wilmington's "ugly duckling." Few people realize the historic nature of the Middlesex Canal remains, which can be found there. And has anyone paused to look at the ferns lately?

The list of 23 ferns: leather leaf grape, marginal shield, crested shield, spinulose wood, common polybody, Christmas, Long Beach, New York, marsh, lady, cinnamon, roysl, interrupted, oak, hay scented, sensitive, bracken, Massachusetts, ebony spleen wort, silvery spleen wort, fruit-ful wood, cu-leaved grape and evergreen wood.

get approval from building and property/easement owners to place the lines. Apartment buildings might also have contracts with another cable provider that would require further negotiations to place lines.

Assistant Town Manager Jeff Hull advises residents that they may now go online to determine whether Verizon service is currently available in their area. If a resident discovers that Verizon service is not yet available, he or she may sign up to receive an auto-response email when service does become available.

The process is as follows:

Go online to www.Verizon.com

- Click on the letters "T.V." in the column at the right side of the screen

- Under the heading "T.V. Products" click on "Fios T.V."

- In the blocks provided enter your home phone number and hit "Go"

The screen that comes up will indicate whether Verizon Fios is currently available in that particular neighborhood. If Fios is not currently available, residents can input their name, street address, zip code, phone number and e-mail address and click on the prompt that asks if the resident would like to be notified when Verizon Internet services and/or Verizon Fios become available. When the page is complete, hit "Submit" and the resident will automatically be notified when these Verizon services are installed in their neighborhood.

"It's been a positive feature to have another cable provider and we hope Verizon is working as quickly as possible to get all areas serviced," Hull said. "We understand that people in all areas of town want other [service provider] options and people's patience is greatly appreciated."

Rumor Central

his resignation more than a month ago, and will remain in the town's employ through to June 13, 2008.

Just over a week ago, a resident informed us that he had learned that Paret had been fired. This initial call, incidentally, indicated that Gregory Erickson, Wilmington's Director of Health, had also been fired. The Crier has been aware for several months that the current Director of Health had announced his upcoming retirement, scheduled for December 2008, and those plans remain intact.

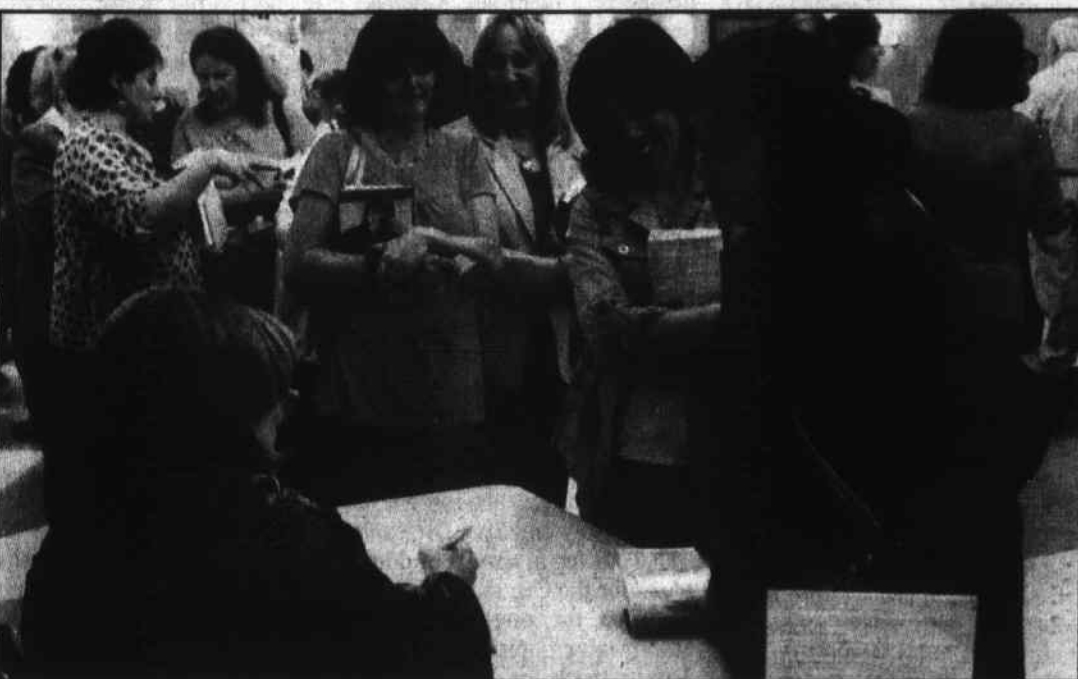

The tip was investigated, and it turned out not to be accurate on either count. Town Manager Michael Caira went on the record verifying that neither Paret nor Erickson had been fired, but that Paret had submitted a letter of resignation more than a month prior.

Since that time, and perhaps as a result of the Town's advertising for a new Building Inspector in trade publications, the Crier has received a number of calls advising it that Paret had been fired. The longer the rumor has percolated the nastier it has become. More than one of the calls went so far as to describe various actions that allegedly led to Paret's dismissal. One call alleged that Town Hall employees were instructed to tell anyone who called that Paret was on vacation.

Once again, the Crier investigated. As recently as this past Monday, May 5, the Crier spoke directly to Mr. Paret, while he was working at Town Hall.

The Town Crier welcomes all calls regarding the news of Wilmington. It provides this newspaper with the opportunity to set the record straight for everyone's benefit.

A New York Times best selling author with a local connection spoke at the Wilmington Middle School Auditorium on Tuesday, May 6. The Friends of the Wilmington Memorial Library and the Wilmington Education Foundation presented an evening with Dorothea Benton Frank, who not only wrote seven New York Times bestsellers between 2000 and 2007, but who is also locally known as the sister-in-law of Wilmington Public Schools Superintendent Joanne Benton. www.chinappi.com

Big week on the diamond

Baseball team knocks down three

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Three up, three down and three all-around.

That was the old saying of the Wilmington High School softball team before opposing teams got up to bat every inning. But it should be the current saying of this year's Wildcat varsity baseball team.

Wilmington knocked off Hamilton-Wenham, 4-2, Amesbury, 12-7, and Manchester-Essex 10-2, this past week to not only improve to 7-3 overall but 6-1 in the Cape Ann League, including being in a three-way tie for first place along with Masconomet and North Andover.

"It's the best start I've had in seven years," said head coach Aldo Caira.

And the reason?

"We've got kids from the soccer team, the football team, the basketball team and the hockey team who have been winning all year long, so they bring that winning attitude which is nice," he said. "They are a very confident group of kids. They say that baseball is the toughest sport to coach especially if you have a bunch of seniors because they are thinking about the last day of school and hitting the beach. But these kids are really focused and they are doing what they are supposed to be doing."

"They want to leave a legacy. I know we still have a long way to go in the season, but they want to win league championships in all of the major sports."

The week started with a 4-2 victory over Hamilton-Wenham. Senior right-hander Brian Svensson went the distance on the mound allowing six hits, while striking out five and not issuing a walk.

"He did a real nice job for us," said Caira. "And once again we made plays behind him because he was throwing strikes."

Caira recently shifted around his batting order and it really seems to have worked with Carlton Lentini (batting .447 on the season) moving from third to first, Eric Siegel moving from fourth to third, Michael Cabral from fifth to fourth and Michael Murphy was eighth to fifth.

"We were having a tough time finding a lead-off hitter," said Caira. "And I think we found one with Carlton. He makes good contact, he's aggressive and you like to see that at the top of the order. We also wanted to get Eric Siegel up to the plate in the first inning and that wasn't happening a lot with him batting fourth. Cabral makes real good contact and Murphy has been terrific."

Through Tuesday's win, Murphy leads the team with a .571 average, with 16 hits in his first 28 varsity at bats.

"He's a singles hitter but he puts them where they ain't that's for sure," said Caira. "In the Amesbury game we had an opportunity to have him bunt two runners on. We had first and second and no outs. He bunted the first one foul and then I called the bunt off to let him hit. Amesbury thought we were bunting as the first baseman came in and the second baseman went to cover first. And Michael sent a line shot right where the second baseman would have been. He has great bat control and just seems to always find the hole."

Murphy and Ernie Mello (batting .343) had quite the performances in the team's 12-7 win over Amesbury. Mello finished 5-for-5, while scoring three runs and knocking in two, Murphy finished 4-for-5, with two runs scored. Eric Siegel and Jon Spurr also contributed with two hits each.

"We're trying to get Jon some more at bats," said Caira. "He's been swinging the bat pretty well lately, even though his average doesn't back it up. But he's been making good contact, so he deserves a shot."

Caira inserted Spurr to second base, moved Mello to first and has been putting Siegel at DH to rest his shoulder from a hockey injury, while, Kyle Moon has been playing some outfield and Danny Cushing is slowly returning from a hip flexor injury.

"To be honest I want Danny to get back in there at first," said Caira. "Once he's healthy, he's our first baseman and Ernie will go back to first. But Jon (Spurr) could find some time in the outfield as some of other guys have been struggling."

Kevin Skinner improved to 3-1 on the season as he got the win against Amesbury.

On Tuesday, Andrew Valente tossed six strong innings to earn his first win of the season.

"He threw well, he really did," said Caira. "He threw strikes and that's what high school baseball is all about. You do that and you give your team a chance to win and that's just what he did. We had four games this past week and we have four more coming up, so we didn't want to put all of the pressure on Svensson, Skinner and Steven Stewart, so Andrew really came through for us with six solid innings."

Cushing made his varsity debut pitching the seventh. He walked the first three batters, before giving up a sacrifice fly. He got out of the jam with a strikeout and a pop up.

"Danny's come off that hip flexor injury and he also hurt his elbow a little bit during the hockey season," said Caira. "So we're slowly bringing him back in. He was a little tentative. He walked the first three guys so he needed to get settled down and get the jitters out. He's still rusty and needs to work his way back."

Wilmington is back in action with four games this week with Pentucket on the road Thursday, Rockport and Triton at home Saturday and Monday, respectively (both at 3:30 pm) and then a road trip to Georgetown on Tuesday.

Wilmington High School sophomore pitcher Chelsie Babcock was the winning pitcher, while she also knocked in the game's winning run in Sunday night's walk-off 1-0 victory over the defending Division 3 state champion North Reading Hornets played at Aprile Field. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com)

Pitcher Chelsie Babcock ends game with single

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It's tough enough being a sophomore and the team's number one starter. In addition to that it's very tough to take on the defending Division 3 state champions and shut them down for seven straight innings.

All of that was handled pretty easily for Chelsie Babcock.

However, since this isn't the National League of professional baseball, Babcock had to hit and didn't have the use of a designated hitter. So after striking out in all three of her previous at bats, the left-handed hitter batter blooped a hit over the second baseman's head to drive in Jackie Zaremba with a walk-off single to lead the Wildcats to an exciting 1-0 victory played at Aprile Field on Sunday night.

"I wasn't trying to think about (the three previous at-bats) and I just tried to relax," said Babcock.

After the team celebrated the win, Wildcat head coach Bob Surran joked with Babcock that he should have had someone pinch hit for her. But he knows that his No. 2 hitter is just that for a reason.

"Chelsie was very disappointed about striking out (three times), but she's a good hitter just (North Reading pitcher Caroline Gattuso) had her number," said Surran. "The law of averages has Chelsie putting her bat on the ball sooner or later because she is a good hitter. She's a good contact hitter, and she struggled the first three at bats but she normally hits the ball and we just wanted her to put the ball in play and that's what she did."

Gattuso led North Reading to the team's first-ever state championship last June. She's arguably the best pitcher in the league and she was in command throughout Sunday's game, including striking out nine batters.

"(Gattuso is) tough with her curveballs and with a lot of the high pitches she throws," said Babcock. "I just had trouble with those pitches and I don't know why. I just wanted to hit the ball, put it in play and hopefully (teammate Jackie Zaremba) would score from second base."

That's just what happened. With one out and the bases empty, Zaremba singled to left center and advanced to second on a passed ball. After Gattuso struck out her ninth batter of the night, Babcock made sure she didn't go back to the mound for extra innings as she delivered the game-winning hit.

Babcock wouldn't have been able to celebrate with the game winning hit, had she not pitched seven scoreless innings to record her sixth win on the mound in eight games. She gave up just three singles, while walking four and striking out three.

"In the earlier games I wasn't pitching Chelsie every game - I was kind of spotting her in places," said Surran. "We had a discussion and I told her that I wanted her to go against all of the teams, see how we do and I think she can do it. She's 6-2 and we're 6-4, so the games she's pitched in we've been in pretty much every game except Tewksbury."

Surran said that her endurance has improved drastically, but he feels that Babcock can lead the team back to post season play because of her ability to locate pitches.

"Chelsie pitched well. She spotted very well and she's not going to overpower you, but she didn't walk too many and that's important against a team like that," said Surran.

Added Babcock, "I'm stronger this year and I'm trying to continue to get stronger. I mainly threw fastballs and change-ups a lot more. And our defense was really good - everyone did awesome. This is a big win for us and I'm very happy."

And she should be.

Softball team sends state champs packing

By JAMIE POTE

It was just like the old days.

Sunday night's softball game played between Wilmington and North Reading was nothing short of tremendous. This one had a little bit of everything - starting out with heated arguments with the umpires, a hazy fog coming over the outfield grass in the later innings, and a walk-off single, this will be a night the Wildcats will remember for a while.

After striking out in her three previous at bats, sophomore Chelsie Babcock blooped a single over the second baseman's head which brought in Jackie Zaremba with the lone run of the game as the Wildcats defeated the defending Division 3 state champion North Reading Hornets, 1-0, played

Sunday night at Aprile Field.

In addition to having the game winning hit, Babcock tossed a complete game shut out, giving up just two hits, while walking four and striking out three to help the Wildcats improve to 6-4 on the season, while North Reading fell to 9-2.

"That was like the old days of Wilmington softball," said Wildcat head coach Bob Surran. "That was a great game - it really was."

Wilmington squandered many chances to score throughout the game including leaving eight runners on base, with five in scoring position, while one runner was tossed out at home. But Wilmington made it count with one out and the bases empty in the bottom of the seventh inning. Number nine hit-

WHS Boys & Girls Track, Tennis and Lacrosse Round-Up

By MIKE IPPOLITO
& JAMIE POTE

The Wilmington High boys track team had quite the layoff between meets. After suffering their first loss of the season back on April 16 to Hamilton-Wenham the Wildcats were unable to take to the track again, unit last Wednesday April 30 against North Reading for a road meet.

Any disappointment the Wildcats may have had from their loss to Hamilton-Wenham seemed to be long forgotten, or maybe it wasn't forgotten and they simply took out their frustrations on North Reading. Either way, the results were spectacular for the Wildcats with a 112-33 victory against their Cape Ann League rivals to improve their record on the season to 8-1 overall.

"We did very well, particularly in the field events where we won all of them and swept five of them," Cripps said.

One of the field events that went best for the Wildcats was no surprise as they swept to victory in the javelin with Nick Farnsworth continuing his undefeated season with a personal best throw of 183-3, while Tom Barry took second with 153-0 and Mike Pizzotti took third with 133-0. The Wildcats also swept the discus with Farnsworth once again coming out on top with a throw of 140-2, followed by Nate Clarkin's 104-3 and Alan Dooley's 99-3.

More of a surprise for the Wildcats was their sweep of the pole vault with Craig Bush taking first with a height of 10'0, followed by Kevin Carter's personal best of 9'0 and Mike Donnell's 8'0. The Wildcats also swept the high jump and triple jump events. Jared Peters took first in the high jump with a height of 5'4, while Tony Nelson finished second with the same height, but one more attempt. Caleb Rogers took third with a height of 5'2. In the triple jump, Nelson took first with a distance of 37-1, while Vinny Papageorgiou took second with 36-7 and Barry finished a strong third with a distance of 35-11.

In the shot put, the Wildcats were unable to sweep, but they did take first and third place with Clarkin taking first with a throw of 43-4, followed by Dooley's personal best of 38-2. The Wildcats also took first and third in the long jump with Jimmy DiNuccio taking first with a jump of 19-3 and Nick Jannone following at 18-4.

While Cripps mentioned the field events in particular going well for the Wildcats, the running event went very well also.

North Reading boasts one of the best hurdlers in the Cape Ann League and the Rams were unable to take a victory in either of the hurdle events, but they did take second and third place finishes in both of them. Jon Parella took second in the 300 hurdles in a time of 42.7, followed closely by Barry in third with a time of 43.0. Parella also took third in the 110 hurdles in a time of 18.1, coming in behind the Wildcats Tyler Calway, who finished second in 17.1.

The Wildcats finished first and second in the two mile with Andrew Marra winning in a time of 11:05, while Zach Sears finished in 11:16. They took first and third in the 400 meters, with DiNuccio winning in a time of 52.4, while Rogers came in third with a time of 54.8.

Matt Figuerido won the 100 meters in a personal best time of 11.1, while Eddie Silva took second in the mile in a time of 5:12.

The Wildcats swept the 200 meters with Jannone taking first in a time of 24.2, followed by Nathan Downs in 24.7 and Marc Shibilila in 25.0.

The race of the day was predicted to be the 800 meters and it did not disappoint. With Mitton of North Reading, who had posted the fastest 800 time in the league and the Wildcats Mike Condell, who had posted the second fastest 800 time in the league squaring off, everybody stopped to watch and the combatants gave them what they were looking for, with Condell improving his personal best time by four seconds to win in a time of 1:57.4, while Mitton improved his personal best time by two seconds, but could only take a second place finish in a time of 1:59.00. Bobby Folk finished third for the Wildcats in a time of 2:16.

The Wildcats won both relays, with the team of Nelson, Jannone, Downs and Figuerido taking the 4 x 100 in a time of 45.5, and the team of DJ Livermore, Jason Pereira, Ryan Kennedy and Folk taking the 4 x 400 in a time of 3:53.

"Everybody did very well," Cripps said. "There was not a lot to find wrong in this meet. I was pleased with how well they all did."

Girls Track

Turning to the girls track team, the Wildcats were defeated by North Reading, 87-58. Wilmington had a handful of girls place in multiple events. Those included: Alison Dancewicz, who was second in the 300 meter hurdles (52.7) and second in the triple jump (30-7); Natalie Russo was second in the 800 (2:42) and third in the two mile; Carmen Palumbo who was second in the long jump (15-4) and second in the 100-meter hurdles (17.4); Erin Conway who was first in both the javelin and shot put (31-4, a personal best) and Kayla Hanson, who was first in the hurdles, second in the pole vault and third in the shot put.

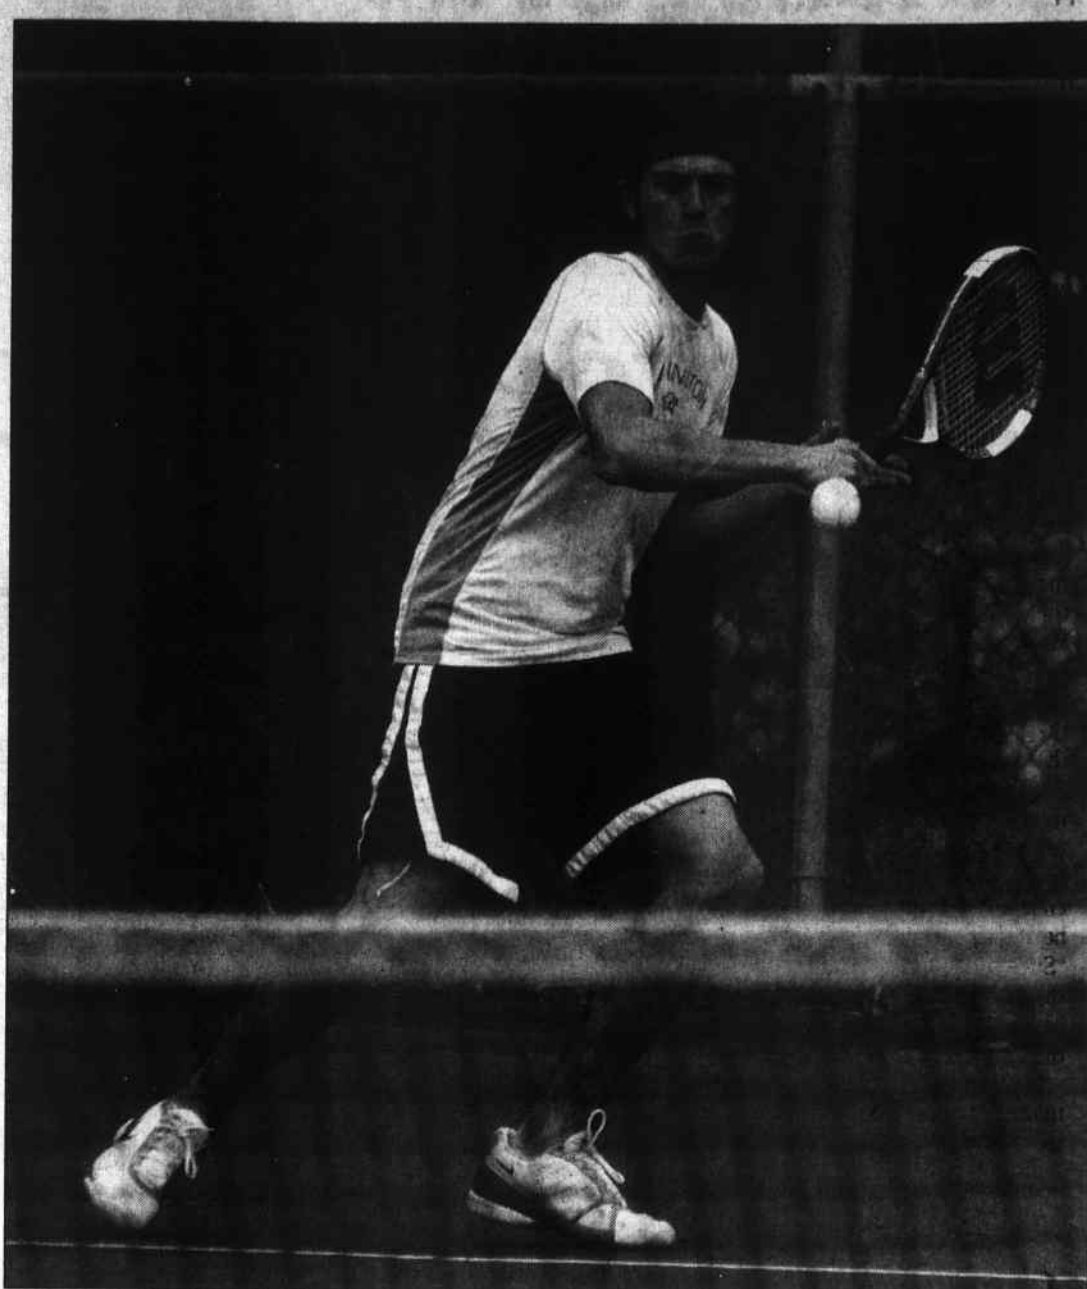

Other highlights included Wilmington dominating the 800 behind Charlotte Jensen (2:41), Russo and Kristi Adley (2:46), while Stephanie Baima won the high jump clearing 5 feet. Rounding out the second place finishers include throwers Krista Murphy (javelin) and Leah Potcner (discus), (while the latter added a third in the 100 at 14.1 seconds), Colleen Kennedy with a personal best 5:46 in the mile, and Michelle Parece in the 400 (66.7). Julie Braid also grabbed a point with a third place in the 200 finishing at 29.9 seconds.

On Saturday, Wilmington competed in the Cape Ann League Freshmen-Sophomore Meet. Alison Dancewicz qualified for the league championship meet with a second place in the triple jump with a leap of 31-11, while, Julie Braid was right behind with a third at 30-10. The 4x800 relay team of Niki Sirignano, Lori Fletcher, Michelle Filippi and Amy Fischer were second with a time of 11:50, while Parece also took a ribbon in the 400 meter run.

Girls Tennis

The Wilmington High girls tennis team just completed the most difficult stretch of schedule they will face this season. In their past two matches, the Wildcats have gone up against two of the best teams in the Cape Ann League, taking on Lynnfield on Monday and Masconomet last Friday, with both matches resulting in 5-0 losses.

While the losses were certainly not what coach Kevin Welch or the Wildcats had in mind, they cannot take away from what has been a successful season to this point, with the Wildcats holding a 5-5 record to this point.

In the Lynnfield match, the Wildcats got some good play from their doubles teams, but they were not quite strong enough to compete with their more experienced foes.

In first doubles, Steph Woods and Ivy Co fell by a score of 6-2, 6-4, while in second doubles Taylor Kindred and Christine Woods dropped a 6-4, 6-0 decision.

"Our doubles played well, but they lost to better teams," Welch said. "Good doubles teams will make adjustments during a match. Taylor and Christine played a very good first set and we weren't able to counter the adjustments made in the second."

"Ivy and Steph played a very good second set, but just weren't able to get the points they needed at the end of the set."

While the Masco match also ended with a 5-0 score, things went much better for the Wildcats in their previous match against Ipswich last Wednesday when the Wildcats earned a 4-1 victory.

Junior Erin McMahon played very well in second doubles, picking up a 6-1, 6-4 win, while sophomore Jessica Burke won third singles by a score of 6-3, 6-2. Senior captain Danielle Miles played well before falling short in first singles by a score of 6-1, 7-5.

"Across the board everyone played well," Welch said. "Even in the match we lost, Danielle got down and then battled in the second set before eventually losing. Erin was down 3-0 in the second set and she made an adjustment and shifted the momentum and closed out the match."

Welch was also very impressed with Burke in third singles.

"Jessica just played her game," Welch said. "She to played to her strengths, observed her opponents abilities and made her play the match she (Jessica) wanted to play."

The doubles teams also played well with Co and Woods picking up a 6-2, 6-4 win in first doubles, while Kindred and Woods earned a 6-4, 6-2 win in second doubles.

"Doubles were very solid," Welch said. "Both teams played to win points. Our doubles play in the past has been very defensive, but all our doubles teams are starting to play more aggressive. They can go out and control a match and when you can control the match you will win the match."

At 5-5 the Wildcats are looking to win enough down the stretch to earn a state tournament berth, which they fell just short of last year with a 6-8 record.

"In the past week we have played the best teams in the league. The girls have been pushed and pulled around the courts for a week, but we can build on this," Welch said. "Every loss is a learning experience. We are 5-5 with six matches to play. In my opinion the season starts now."

Boys Tennis

The boys tennis team, at Wilmington High has had a hard time picking up victories this season as their winless season extended to 0-9 with a 5-0 loss to Lynnfield on Monday afternoon.

The Wildcats did get some good performances in the loss with Kenny Vassallo putting up a good fight in first singles before falling by a score of 7-6 (7-5), 6-1.

"Kenny played probably his best set of the season in that first set against a kid who is generally regarded as a top six player in this league," Wilmington coach Matt Hackett said. "It was good for him to play in a close match like that. It was a blessing for him to know that on any given day he can compete with anybody in the league. This will be good for him going into next year."

In third singles, Dana Ferranti battled hard in a 6-3, 6-2 loss.

"I can't say enough about Dana's development this year," Hackett said. "He has developed some great ground strokes. He is just a sophomore and he is getting lots of experience. It has been a lot of fun to watch his development."

The second doubles team of freshmen Adam Kline of Cody O'Connor also put up a strong fight before falling by a score of 6-4, 6-2.

"They are coming along well as freshmen," Hackett said. "They have some of the best ground strokes from freshmen that I have seen in a while. They make some mistakes because they are so young, but they show a lot of promise for the future. They are also a couple of good kids who enjoy playing together, which is important for a doubles team."

As the losses continue to mount, it has obviously been tough for Hackett and the Wildcats to stay positive as the season has gone on, but Hackett says that he is proud of the way the group has handled the adversity.

"If I said there were not moments that they were down I would be lying to you and frankly I would also be a little concerned about their desire to be competitive," Hackett said. "Sure they get down, but overall they have been keeping their heads up and they realize that the future is ahead of us."

"We are trying to focus on the matches one at a time and realize that we cannot get better without playing people better than us," Hackett said. "We have to realize that we are getting better even if the scores do not yet show it."

Boys Lacrosse

The Wilmington High School boys lacrosse team split its last two games, losing to Tewksbury, 8-7 in overtime and edging out Arlington Catholic, 7-6 in overtime.

In the loss to Tewksbury, Sean Fay led the way with three goals. Kevin Fitzpatrick chipped in with two goals and an assist, while Sean Tavares and Matt Derian had one goal and one assist each. Matt Kincaid made 12 saves in the net, while Tim Cushing played a very good all-around game.

In the win over AC, Fay again led the way with four points including a goal and three helpers. Corey Groves had two goals and Tavares had one goal and one assist. Derian, Fitzpatrick and Kevin Flanagan each had a goal, while, Chris Thibault and Alex Solon had one assist each.

"This was a great non-league win," said head coach Mike Fay. "We needed to get back to winning and stay within the reach of a .500 record. Chris Thibault had a monster game playing solid defense taking the ball away from the Arlington Catholic players and advancing the ball up field.

Corey Groves score the game winner in overtime on a man up situation. We practice man up every day and this goal was a team goal. Alex Solon had the assist on the play, but the movement of all six players created the space for Groves to step up and score the winning goal. Matt Kincaid had a great day in goal and did an outstanding job clearing the ball up field."

Girls Lacrosse

The Wildcat varsity girls lacrosse team fell to 0-9 on Tuesday afternoon with an 18-11 loss to Triton Regional which came after falling to Manchester, 17-10 last Thursday. In the loss to Triton, Lizz Chin led the way scoring four goals, while, Lisa Rooker (3 goals), Colleen Magee and Katelyn Hayes (2 goals each) also had multiple tallies.

Goalie Ally Robbins made eight saves in the loss.

In the game against Manchester-Essex, Magee led the way with four goals and an assist, while, Chin had three ter Jackie Zaremba had a sharp single to left center. She advanced to second base on a passed ball. After a strikeout, Babcock came up with two outs and delivered the bloop hit into No-Man's Land, allowing Zaremba to come across the plate only to get mobbed by her teammates celebrating the hard earned victory.

"Chelsie was very disappointed about striking out (three times), but she's a good hitter just (North Reading pitcher Caroline Gattuso) had her number," said Surran. "The law of averages has Chelsie putting her bat on the ball sooner or later because she is a good hitter. She's a good contact hitter, and she struggled the first three at bats but she normally hits the ball and we just wanted her to put the ball in play and that's what she did."

But the game-winning hit wouldn't have happened without Zaremba starting the rally off.

"She struggled in the last few games but her last few at bats, but she's had a couple of good swings and a couple of good outs so she's swinging the bat a little better," said Surran. "It's nice in ninth position to be able to hurt someone."

Throughout the game, North Reading head coach Rusty Russell - a terrific coach however - had several heated arguments with the umpires with differences in opinions on several calls and that certainly overshadowed a tremendously pitched and played softball game. His pitcher Gattuso struck out nine Wildcat batters and constantly bore down when it counted to get out of several jams.

On the flip side of that Babcock was helped out by battermate Brittany McLaughlin, who threw out three base runners trying to steal, while dealing with a sore elbow all game. McLaughlin really came through in the top of the sixth throwing out a runner at third base, which was followed by two walks in the inning. But Babcock got out of the game with a strikeout to the clean-up hitter, which ended the threat.

North Reading again had two runners on base in the top of the seventh but McLaughlin caught a pop up in foul ground in front of the North Reading bench, which, set up the Wildcats last at bat dramatically.

"We tried to go to the short game but we couldn't even get the bunt down," said Surran. "But she's a good pitcher, there's no question about it. The kids can usually get a bunt down against a decent pitcher but they had trouble tonight. Obviously I think this (win) will help their confidence and they believe that they can play with anyone."

Besides the win over North Reading, Wilmington split two games with Triton Regional which officially puts the team's record at 6-5 overall. Last week the 'Cats trounced the Vikings, 9-1, behind Brianna Parow, who finished the game 3-for-3 with a run scored and a RBI. Kim Ciampa and Kaitlyn Souza also had two hits each. Then on Monday, the Wildcats struggled offensively and were defeated 1-0.

Wilmington returned home to face Manchester-Essex (3-7) on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime. On Thursday night, they will host Pentucket (4-6) at 7:00 pm before going to Rockport (3-6) on Monday.

Under 15 Boys Lacrosse team takes on Rockets

Wilmington's U-15 boys lacrosse team played Reading for the second week in a row this past Sunday, and like last week, they came to play.

This game was almost identical to the previous weeks' game, with Reading drawing many penalties throughout the game. First quarter action started with Nick Luise at the face off, scooping the ball with ease to pass it up field. Stick skills showed when Cam Collins made it passed his opponents, weaving his way around the field to get the ball to Tim Hunt, who scored the first goal and put Wilmington ahead 1-0.

Head Coach, Jim Rossetti, rallied his team early in the first quarter to encourage them to take advantage of Reading's penalties. The boys did just that and Wilmington was ahead 3-1 at the end of the first quarter by goals from Cam Collins (who also had a hat trick of assists before this game was over) and Chris Newton.

Second quarter was full of exceptional defense by Wilmington's goalie, Cam Owens, making tremendous saves, passing the ball to his teammates midfield. Defense was solid with Nick Luise, Nolan Gaffey, Steve Spinazola, Dan Hope and Zach Maher, all working hard to get the ball and their tenacity showed throughout the game. JB Thompson was on fire when he snagged the ball from a pass by Reading's goalie, and with ease passed it up to Tim Hunt who was all alone at the crease to score.

Back to back goals from Nick Luise and Chris Newton (who also had an assist), brought Wilmington ahead by a score of 6-2 at the end of the second quarter.

This game was not over though and Reading came out in the third quarter to try and take control of the game but it was Wilmington who proved to be the better team, as in last week's game, with accurate passing and catching by Jay Rossetti (who also had an assist in the fourth quarter), Jimmy O'Neill, Andrew McDonagh and Colin McGuire, along with a collaborative team effort, exhibiting their lacrosse talents throughout the game by playing strong, smart and precise, working together to set up the plays using their stick skills with passing and catching, showcasing what lacrosse is all about!

Wilmington won this game with a final score of 10-5, who now have an outstanding record of three wins and only one loss thus far this season.

Burlington resident Colonel Mark Delaney:

Tradition is the future of the State Police

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Burlington resident and Woburn native Mark Delaney has seen a lot of changes as he has climbed the ladder to the top in the Massachusetts State Police, but now he wants the troopers to understand their long history and tradition before making any more changes.

Colonel Delaney has been the Superintendent of the Department of the State Police for just under two years. He was appointed to the post, the apex of his 34 year history, in June, 2006, by then Governor Mitt Romney.

Speaking on his vision for the largest state police force in New England, Delaney said "When I took over I wanted to slow down and before I moved forward I wanted to go backwards to the traditions on which the State Police was founded in 1865."

He added, "We are the oldest statewide police agency in the country."

Continuing with his vision, Delaney said, I wanted to have every trooper on the job reflect on why he or she chose the career path and reflect on the core values of the agency: courage, integrity and honor.

"It starts with my simple three rules, which I repeatedly speak to the troops on:

- A day's work for a day's pay;
- Wear the uniform proudly; and,
- Treat the public with respect.

"If every trooper follows these three rules, everything else will fall into place."

According to Delaney, part of his motivation for this time-out for reflection is based on the number of changes he has witnessed since joining the force in 1974. These changes include seeing the number of women increase from zero to enough now that some are serving in command positions.

"Women in law enforcement is the number one change," Delaney said. "When I came on in 1974 there were no women on the State Police and very few in law enforcement."

Another major motivating factor for his philosophy was the 1992 merger of the former Capitol Police, Metropolitan District Commission Police and Registry of Motor Vehicles Police into the State Police. Although officers from those forces were fully trained in police work, Delaney noted they had to undergo further training to learn the State Police procedures and philosophy about law enforcement.

"The merger worked out very well," Delaney said. "Here it is 16 years later and you can't really tell the difference between any of the officers."

Delaney has gone through

Colonel Delaney, Superintendent of the Department of the State Police for just under two years. Reflecting on tradition, he states, "It starts with my simple three rules, which I repeatedly speak to the troops on: •A day's work for a day's pay; •Wear the uniform proudly; and, •Treat the public with respect."

many changes in his 34 years on the force. He first started thinking about a career in law enforcement as a paperboy selling newspapers in front of St. Margaret Church between Sunday Masses. He would talk with the detail officers from the Burlington Police Force and started to like the idea of law enforcement as a career.

He noted that his interest in the State Police was first sparked while attending a party as a student at Boston State College, where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Criminal Justice. A trooper was at the party and started telling Delaney what a wonderful career choice it was.

Thus in 1973 Delaney took the entrance exam to become a Trooper and he was accepted into the State Police Academy in 1974.

This is another change Delaney has experienced. His academy class was only 17 weeks, whereas today all police officers in Massachusetts undergo a grueling 26 weeks of training.

"All of the demands for law enforcement have brought about more demands for training," Delaney said about the extended training period.

The increased demands started when the computer was introduced into police work. In today's world there is a laptop in every cruiser and the Troopers can go online to receive updates on criminal histories of people they are stopping.

Aside from the technological changes, Delaney notes that Delaney to S-4

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"IRON MAN"

"IRON MAN" IS LOUD AND explosive. But it is also lots of fun. If you like Marvel Comics you will love this movie.

"IRON MAN"
GRADE: ***

Rest easy, megamovie fans - the first blockbuster of the summer is a lot of fun. The loud and explosive Iron Man may not walk away with many Oscars (though one could certainly make a case for Robert Downey Jr. for Best Actor, even at this early date), but it certainly will draw audiences, and will probably satisfy the demanding tastes of Marvel comic book fans everywhere.

What originally looked like off-the-wall casting now looks like a shot of genius. Robert Downey Jr. plays Tony Stark, the boozing, womanizing head of Stark Industries, a company he inherited from his father and the world's leading weapons manufacturer. He cares little for the death and destruction in which his company plays a major role. "They say the best weapon is one you never have to fire," he says before demonstrating a new missile. "I prefer the weapon you only need to fire once."

Downey is a rare serious actor who can speak a piece of routine dialogue and, with his inspired delivery, turn it into biting humor, and is perfect for this role.

Stark is captured by terrorists in Afghanistan, and is given the tools to invent a new type of missile for his captors. Instead, while in captivity, he invents his iron suit and escapes, destroying his creation in the process. Back home in the U.S., he secretly begins work on a new creation, while also announcing plans to disarm his family's weapons business.

This development upsets Stark Co. henchman Obadiah Stane (a bald Jeff Bridges), who secretly has career plans of his own. The film's third act consists of a stand-off between these once-friendly partners.

This is an effects-heavy popcorn flick, but director Jon Favreau, working from a screenplay credited to four writers, never forgets the man in Iron Man. Though he is brilliant and rich, Stark is just a man with obvious "character defects," as he describes it. He has not come here from another planet; he has no mutant superpowers. His enemies are men, too, militant men who live in caves in the Middle East. This could be the most relevant superhero tale in years.

Iron Man delivers what its fans will most demand, such as plenty of explosions, a parade of high-tech gadgetry, computer-generated sequences highlighting the action and numerous beautiful women, including Gwyneth Paltrow, looking lovely, as Stark's side-kick Pepper Potts.

Compared to other recent superhero movies, Iron Man should rank a notch below Batman Begins, but on par with the the second installments in the X-Men and Spider-Man franchises. In a parade of summer movies that will include comic book staples such as The Incredible Hulk, Hellboy II and The Dark Knight, Downey and Favreau have set the bar very, very high.

"BABY MAMA"
GRADE: **

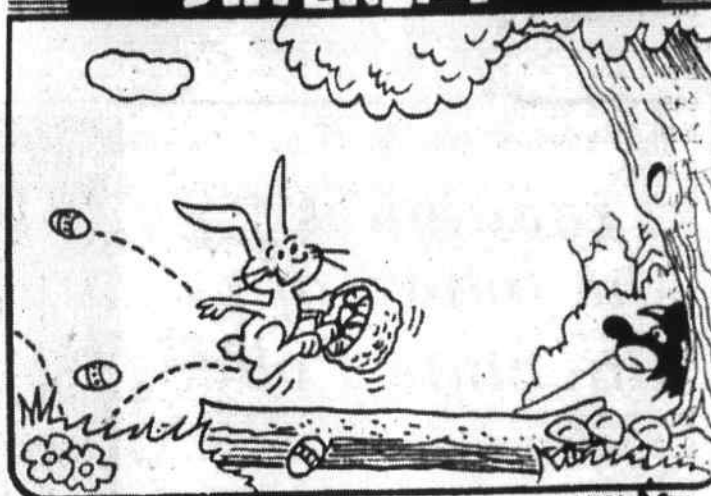

The mama drama works so well in 'Baby Mama', the obligatory love interest that is thrown into the mix is unnecessary - like solid food for the first three months of life.

'Baby Mama' wastes time on a love match between Tina Fey and Greg Kinnear, a couple who don't generate any sparks, when the movie's more interesting relationship is between Fey and Burlington native Amy Poehler. Calm down, there's no lesbian angle but the film is written so that the usual romantic comedy interactions and situations play out between Fey and Poehler, not to Fey and Kinnear.

Fey plays an executive who thinks she's infertile and who decides to pay a crass stranger (Poehler) to be a surrogate mom. The fun of the movie is watching Fey's Type A+ character, which is very close to the one Fey plays on "30 Rock," interact with Poehler's slacker, who utters every thought that drifts into her head, often in a loud, obnoxious voice. Leaving messes everywhere and frequently spitting up food, Poehler is a 35-year-old infant, which works out pretty well, since Fey can practice her parenting skills on Poehler.

Whenever "Baby Mama" is focusing on either or both of them, fun things happen, whether it's Fey's sweet habit of sniffing the heads of random babies or the way Poehler yells out her dialogue. They're so great together that you can tell they are old friends from their days on Saturday Night Live, but it also shines a light on the film's drawbacks, such as the boring performance of Kinnear, and several unfunny moments from Steve Martin, who plays Fey's health-food guru boss.

"FORGETTING SARAH MARSHALL"

GRADE: ***

"Forgetting Sarah Marshall" is a raunchy fun movie with a sensitive side.

The comedy, produced by Judd Apatow ("Superbad," "Knocked Up") is raunchy right from the start, earning its R rating with an extended and hilarious scene with full frontal male nudity, so you'll know right away whether or not this film is for you.

The story begins with the breakup of a non-traditional Hollywood couple. Kristen Bell is the superhot star of a "CSI"-style TV show. Jason Segel ("Knocked Up," "How I Met Your Mother") - who also wrote the screenplay - writes the boring music that plays behind the crime scenes.

She ends up dumping him, as he's standing there nude and exposed, for his exact opposite, a dark, oversexed English rock star played by Russell Brand.

Segel tries to rebound by diving into the dating pool, only to sabotage his own efforts by repeatedly sobbing.

At the prodding of his step-brother, Segel heads to Hawaii for fun, sun and women - only to find his ex booked at the same hotel with her new man.

Could things get any worse? Of course they could, and they do, as Segel takes part in one tourist activity after another, including a boar hunt, surfing and massive drinking parties, all with disastrous results. Brand is great as the laid-back rock star beau who has both sexes fawning over him.

Going for it, so to speak (Woburn)

"The Planning Board unanimously endorsed a proposal at its recent meeting from city officials who hope to install a pre-fabricated public restroom facility at Library Park," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The favorable recommendation has since been forwarded to the City Council, which will likely deliberate on the petition."

"According to City Engineer Jay Corey, who pitched the plan on behalf of the Recreation Commission and other local officials, the Library Park comfort station would include separate male and female restrooms, as well as a storage area."

"The costs for the new park amenity will be covered by funding secured by the city's grant writer, who received the money from the Mass. Dept. of Conservation and Recreation."

"We have a much used area down at Library Field, so this is an area where for a long time, the recreation dept. has looked to install [restrooms]," the City Engineer explained. "The DPW would do the installation of all the water, sewer and electrical connections."

"Currently, the city plans to drop the pre-fabricated facility just off of the access road that runs between Harrison Avenue, nearby the police station, and the City also great as the island girl who helps mend Segel's broken heart, while cameos by Apatow regulars like Jonah Hill ("Superbad," "Knocked Up") and Paul Rudd ("Knocked Up," "The 40 Year Old Virgin") are very funny.

"Forgetting Sarah Marshall" won't win any awards, but it's guaranteed to make you laugh.

"If the redevelopment plans of Volare Realty Trust go forward as proposed, Ristorante Daniela's at 303 Main St. will soon be replaced by 23,568 square feet of new commercial space," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"The mixed-use development would include a 140-seat restaurant, a bank with two drive-through lanes plus two new retail storefronts and two upper level offices on the 3.2 acre site located just north of Pluff Avenue near the Andover town line."

"As reported in the Transcript, the public hearing process was slated to begin after press time, when the applicant sought a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals to alter land lying within the aquifer protection district (APD)."

By the Wayside? Yes and no (Burlington)

"The Planning Board voted 6-0 recently - member Jayne Hyde was absent - to approve a special permit and minor engineering change for the Ginger Pad restaurant at Wayside Commons on Wayside Road," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The votes mean the restaurant will expand to a total of 120 seats."

"Rich Feldman, a representative of the restaurant said they were initially going to seek 42 seats, but they made an adjustment in the parking area which will accommodate three more, the total of the expansion, then, will be 45.

"Attorney Robert Buckley of the local firm of Riemer & Braunstein, representing the Ginger Pad and Wayside Commons, said the additional 45 seats 'will be located in the vacant space between the Ginger Pad and another restaurant, Not Your Average Joe's.'"

"Planning Board

Chairwoman Ann Cummings said that a utility pole 'was a problem' on the Wayside Commons site.

"Feldman responded that he has been in contact with NSTAR regarding this situation. That company, Feldman said, is working to 'complete permits for the connection of lines overhead....'

State Trooper Col. Delaney

From S-1

9/11 brought about changes in the way any police agency has to look at the job. There has to be more thought to prevention and security and not to just being a reactive force making arrests after an incident has occurred.

Today's troopers have to be aware of the inner workings of other police agencies including those in local communities and those at the federal level.

Toward this end the Maritime Unit and the STOP (Strategic Tactical Operations) unit work closely with the Coast Guard to protect the Port of Boston, especially when a Liquid Natural Gas (LNG) tanker comes into the Port. Before the entry, the tankers are met by the State Police boat with a dive team on board and a complete inspection is made of the boat above and below the water line. The Maritime Unit then works with the Coast Guard and the Boston Police Maritime Unit to escort the boat to its dock under the Tobin Bridge on the Mystic River.

After Delaney graduated from the Academy, he started out as a field officer in communities such as Framingham, Concord, Andover, Lynnfield and Peabody. However, as he started going for promotions to corporal and sergeant he was assigned to work in more interesting places.

According to his official biography, Colonel Delaney spent 25 years in the State Police Division of Investigative Services including 11 years commanding the Middlesex County State Police Detective Unit and Attorney General's State Police Detective Unit.

During this time, Delaney worked as an undercover narcotics detective. Most of his work was focused in Lowell and sometimes he was used in Cambridge as well.

Delaney noted that at the start of his investigative career he worked under the command of Detective Bob Long. On his mentor's retirement, Delaney was promoted and took over that command in the Middlesex DA's office.

During his career, Colonel Delaney was involved in several high-profile investigations including the administrative investigation of the death of John Geoghan in 2003 at the Souza Baranowski Correctional Center, the successful prosecution for the murder of 10-year old Jeffrey Curly, the investigation of the 1995 fatal crash of the State Police helicopter, and the successful prosecution of the theft of $6.5 million dollars from the Massachusetts State Treasury.

Aside from these high profile cases Delaney also worked in many cases locally including two in Reading. He and Reading Detective Lieutenant (retired) Kevin Patterson both worked to reopen and finally solve a 22 year-old "cold-case" that had originally been ruled as a suicide. The pair followed up on a tip and found out that the death of young female, Robin Gilbert in July of 1975, that had been found on the Meadowview Golf Course was actually a murder. After two years of investigations they were able to bring the murdered to justice.

Delaney and Patterson were able to team up again and, with the help of many State and local police officers they were able to solve the murder in the Elaine Donahue case where the husband had reported his wife missing. Her car was found abandoned in Stoneham and that sparked a two-town search that went on for many weeks until the detectives found the lead that led to the husband's conviction.

Just prior to being named as the Superintendent, Delaney served as the Commander of Forensic Services and was in charge of the State Police Forensic Laboratories with a staff 180 people and operating budget of $13.9 million dollars. Under his leadership, the Forensic Laboratories greatly expanded their DNA testing and computer forensic capabilities making the laboratories one of the leading crime labs in the nation.

As Superintendent, Delaney is now in charge of the largest police force in New England. It employs over 2,400 sworn officers, 531 civilians and has an annual budget of over $306 million dollars.

These numbers include an Air Wing of five helicopters, which are at the disposal of the police and fire departments in the 351 cities and towns in Massachusetts. State Police figures show that the Air Wing flies well over 2,000 missions per-year. These range from flying reconnaissance missions using high speed and infra-red cameras to carrying up to 500 gallons of water that can be dumped on forest fires.

According to Delaney, he is authorized to have 2,500 troopers. His goal is to work with the legislature and the administration to find the funding to maintain the force at this level.

He noted that the State Police is facing the retirements of a large number of troopers. Delaney would like to have the funding in place to replace these retirees.

Part of his plan is to recruit a larger segment of minority officers. He is working with Civil Service to make their testing more compatible with State Police standards and with the Boston Police Department to model their minority recruitment program.

Learn these simple strategies

Preventing injury and immobility from falls

For older adults, a fall can often spell disaster. One-third of all Americans age 65 and older experience a fall each year and millions are injured, many of them seriously. The injuries suffered in a fall can rob older adults of their mobility and independence, and lead to premature death.

In 2004, nearly 15,000 people age 65 and older died from falls.

But falls are not an inevitable, unavoidable part of aging. Older adults - and those who care for them - can take steps to lower the risk of falls and fall-related injuries, while also safeguarding independence and mobility.

The following steps are outlined in two consumer-friendly brochures from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC):

- Exercise regularly. Exercise programs like Tai Chi can increase strength and improve balance and working on these skills can help to prevent accidental falls.

- Learn about your medications. Ask a doctor or pharmacist about any potential side-effects from prescription and over-the-counter medications to avoid balance problems and other negative effects that can lead to falls.

- Get your eyes checked. A regular yearly eye exam can ensure that your peepers are in tip-top shape and individuals who wear glasses can also have their prescription updated, if necessary, to ensure optimal with Massachusetts General Hospital for cardiology and Tufts-New England Medical Center for neonatology.

vision.

- Eliminate hazardous situations in the home by improving lighting, clearing walkways and reducing clutter.

The CDC reports that the death rate from falls among older adults has increased significantly over the past decade. With the growing population of seniors in the United States, this trend can be expected to continue unless efforts are made to prevent falls.

The strategies outlined in the CDC's literature are fairly simple, but they can greatly reduce the risk of falling. And some of the strategies, such as exercising regularly, reviewing medications and getting regular eye exams, have health benefits as well.

The CDC's fall-prevention brochures are available to organizations and individuals free of charge. For additional information, visit www.cdc.gov/ncipc/duip/fallsmaterial.htm or call 800-CDC-INFO to order by phone.

In 2004, nearly 15,000 people age 65 and older died from falls.

A new wrinkle in headache treatment

Headache sufferers are finding relief from migraines from an unexpected source. Botox®, the drug best known for reducing wrinkles, is being used to treat headaches. Physicians believe that the drug reduces headache pain because it reduces muscle contractions or blocks a pain-transmitting chemical, or through a combination of both actions.

Wayne T. Cornblath, M.D., neuro-ophthalmologist at the University of Michigan Kellogg Eye Center, says that many of his patients are relieved to find that Botox makes their once debilitating headaches manageable.

Mary Anne Brancheau is one such patient who characterizes the treatment as "life altering." Now that the injections are working, she realizes the magnitude of the pain, frustration and fatigue that accompanied her daily headaches. "I tried other medications for years, but nothing really worked. Before, I'd describe my quality of life as mediocre; now I'm productive again, and I'd classify the quality of life as a ten," she says.

Doctors discovered this new use for Botox just a few years ago, when patients reported fewer headaches after receiving injections to reduce wrinkles. Several clinical trials followed, and in June 2002 researchers at the annual meeting of the American Headache Society reported on a study of 134 individuals, most of whom, like Ms. Brancheau, had little success with conventional medications.

Some 84 percent said that Botox had lessened the pain from their migraine, tension, or chronic daily headaches. Cornblath says that he sees a similar success rate in his own practice. "In my experience, about one-third of my patients have had complete relief from headaches, and another one-third have found partial relief," Dr. Cornblath observes.

To treat headaches Cornblath administers approximately 10 injections, five in the forehead and five in the back of the neck. The small dose and location of the injections help to minimize side effects, which are generally limited to a slight decrease in ability to move forehead muscles or elevate the eyebrows.

According to Cornblath, "The side effects are negligible, especially when compared to those associated with some of the stronger migraine medications."

The injections take from 1 to 14 days to have an effect, and the benefits last from 2 to 5 months.

Beyond Botox

Innovative treatment options, such as Botox injections to remedy headaches, are continually being investigated. The National Headache Foundation reports that a number of new headache treatments are in the research and trial phases.

• Generics: Oral and intranasal generic sumatriptan are expected to be available in 2008 and 2009, respectively (Ranbaxy Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and NovaDel).

• Inhalation device: Uses heat to vaporize a drug into an odorless mist that passes through the lungs into the bloodstream. The hope is to provide relief within 60 seconds. The device is currently in clinical trials using prochlorperazine (Staccato® from Alexza Molecular Delivery Corp.).

• Skin patch: The system uses a transdermal patch containing the drug and a small battery-powered electronic controller that precisely controls the rate and amount of drug released from the patch. A patch is currently in clinical trials using zolmitriptan (Actyve® from Vyeris). A sumatriptan transdermal patch based on proprietary SmartRelief® iontophoretic patch technology is in development. (NuPathe)

• Nasal powders: A powder form of dihydroergotamine is being studied. Currently administered as a nasal spray, the powder form may be easier to use and more rapidly absorbed. (DHE Nasal Powder from Britannia Pharmaceuticals in collaboration with Novartis Pharmaceuticals)

• New drug combination: A combination of sumatriptan and naproxen sodium that provides faster, sustained pain relief compared to each individual medication is expected in 2008. (Trexima® from Pozen Inc. in conjunction with Glaxo-SmithKline).

Fit or fooling yourself? Boomer basics: 6 steps to a healthier life

The good news: Baby Boomers are living longer and leading more active lives.

The not-so-good news: There's still room for improvement when it comes to long-term health. According to a recent survey of baby boomers, the majority are feeling young, eating healthy and putting less focus on age-related health issues such as hearing loss, elevated blood pressure and declining eyesight. The findings are in stark contrast to those of the National Center for Health Statistics, which reports that half of Americans in the 55 to 64 age group have high blood pressure and two in five are obese.

So are boomers fooling themselves into a false sense of security when it comes to their overall health?

Quite possibly, says Dr. Stephen Sanders, diabetic expert and Internal Medicine specialist at St. John's Mercy Medical Center in St. Louis, MO. "A recent Energizer Keep Going, Live Health survey uncovered the disconnect between health perceptions and health realities among this age group," says Dr. Sanders. "That's why it is so important for boomers to be proactive, to take charge of their health and to undergo routine screenings for all common age-related health issues."

Dr. Sanders also stresses the connection between these health screenings and maintaining a high quality of life. For example, untreated hearing loss could mean the difference between living independently and requiring assistance, says Dr. Sanders. "If you can't hear the phone, doorbell, fire alarm, etc., it's going to be extremely difficult to maintain your independence. If you have a hearing issue - and one-third of boomers think they do - get a hearing screening to determine if you need a hearing aid," he advises. "If not, you put yourself and others at risk."

For those ready to improve their lifestyle, Dr. Sanders has six tips:

1. Routine health screenings are extremely important preventive efforts and the key to healthy living and disease management.
2. Diabetics must work to keep their blood sugar as near to normal as possible - one of the best ways to do so is the regular use of a glucose meter.
3. Be sure to maintain all your vital devices. People who use blood pressure monitors, glucose monitors and insulin pumps should have backup batteries available for all their medical devices.
4. Get up to speed on the latest technologies. From discreet hearing aids with wireless technology to hearing aid battery dispensers, such as the Energizer EZ Change, it's easier than ever to remain active.

5. Make it a daily challenge to find ways to move your body. Climb stairs if given a choice - anything that moves your limbs is not only a fitness tool, it's a stress buster.

6. Utilizing devices such as pedometers, calorie counters and MP3 players can help make exercising fun and enjoyable.

Dr. Sanders urges everyone - and especially boomers - to make health a priority. By incorporating these six simple steps, people of all ages can achieve better health and meet their health and fitness goals.

School Notes SIMPLY TERRIFIC

by Phyllis Nissen

Awesome example in Reading

"The Massachusetts Association of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (MAH-PERD) has selected Coolidge teacher, Paula Graham, as the 2008 Middle School Teacher of the Year," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The award was presented to Ms. Graham at the MAH-PERD Honors and Awards Banquet at the Sturbridge Host Hotel in Sturbridge, Massachusetts."

"Paula Graham received her Bachelors degree in Health, Physical Education and General Science from Northeastern University, Boston-Bouve College. She received a Masters in Education from Fitchburg State College, and is presently in the CAGIS Program at Fitchburg as well. She began with the Reading Public Schools in 1978 as a high school teacher, and in 2001 joined the staff at the Coolidge Middle School. At Coolidge, she has played an integral role in the transition of the physical education program moving toward a unified wellness approach. In 2005, Ms. Graham became certified as a personal trainer, and two years ago, she helped develop the Coolidge Fitness Center that both students and staff now use on a daily basis."

"In Ms. Graham's classes, students have the opportunity to learn about the body's response to exercise with heart rate monitors and the benefits of cardiovascular fitness with pedometers. Pedometers have also been used in a 'Jog across America' program. She instituted the 'Red Face Club' for raising individual effort in daily classes, and she utilizes 'Trifit' assessments twice a year, measuring a student's current level of fitness and emphasizing individual progress, improvement and goal setting. Ms. Graham is also a teacher leader in the implementation of the Life Skills Training program, which promotes healthy living and sound decision making and which gives students skills they need to lead a healthy, happy and successful life...."

Courageous leaders in Wilmington

"Four local Wilmington Middle School students were among 200 scholars from New England in attendance at a unique leadership development program held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Cambridge," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"Themed 'Courageous Leadership,' the National Young Leaders State Conference (NYLSC) helps young scholars take an introspective and highly personalized assessment of their leadership skills and abilities."

"Bea Banda, Kristin Esdale, Katie Kurowski, and Kelley Wilcox, all eighth graders at Wilmington Middle School, were nominated to represent Wilmington at this unique leadership program for exceptional young leaders by Language Arts Teacher Ms. Kristin Smith."

"The nomination was in recognition of their scholastic merit, maturity, responsibility, strength of character, leadership and the ability to benefit from this unique program. They enjoyed the seminars and took home great memories, new friendships, and tools to become strong leaders."

"Throughout the four-day program, the students built a working 'toolkit' of strategies to help them successfully dream, create and implement plans that will change how they view their role as leaders in their communities. The attendees were challenged to step forward in a manner that is decisive and confident, to grasp the concepts of leadership that will be taught and to act upon their dreams of making a difference in the world while maintaining the courage of their convictions."

"The steps each person takes in discovering this or her own leadership strengths can be a very personal process," said Mike Lasday, executive director of the Congressional Youth Leadership Council (CYLC), the organization that sponsors NYLSC. "The National Young Leaders State Conference will help students get at the heart of their innate talents and skills and will also help them identify how best they can serve within their communities...."

Fabulous food plan in Wakefield

"The Wakefield School Committee received an update from the Chartwells Food Service District Manager, Jack Jones, and Wakefield Food Services Director Jeanne Sheridan," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"They noted that 75 percent of the students purchase a lunch and that equals approximately 2,000 meals per day throughout the district."

"Jones said, 'Through the efforts of Jeanne Sheridan and the Wakefield School Department, a grant from the Department of Public Health has brought in $52,000 and it is expected that another

$25,000 will be forthcoming.'

"Chartwells has worked with the Wakefield School Department on the Wellness Program and the Allergy Policy and great strides have been reached."

"Nutritional improvements have been made with the addition of whole wheat pasta and whole wheat chicken nuggets. They are constantly trying to introduce students to fresh fruits and vegetables."

"Chicken nuggets, pizza and pasta are still the most popular items, but we have seen an increase as more salad options are available for the students," remarked Sheridan.

"It was noted that food costs have increased and since June 2007, a half pint of milk has increased by six cents."

"They have eliminated the sale of whole milk and still sell approximately 3,500 cartons per day."

"Jones indicated that the state reimbursement figure is $2.61 per meal so 'the Wakefield price of $2.25 is below the state figure. It was also noted that parents can apply for free and reduced price meals for their child or children. Applications can be submitted and reviewed within 24 hours...."

Ask the Designer

Lisa Tognarelli

Q. What should I do to get ready for a kitchen/bathroom remodel?

A. Start looking at magazines and if you have access, watch HGTV for ideas.

I often tell my customers to make themselves 3 lists to help in planning.

1. This is the items that you have to have.
2. These are the items you would like if not too much money
3. This is what I call the "I am dreaming" list. This is the list of things that you may think you cannot get or think that it is so outrageously priced that there is no way of getting the items. Sometimes, the "dreaming" list is not as far fetched as one may think.

The lists help the designer and the customer move in the right direction with their cabinetry and countertops.

Also, when planning on re-constructing a room (ie. Moving walls, windows, etc.) talk to friends and family you know who have done remodeling. Ask about their contractors and their experience to assist you in finding the right contractor for you.
